ROOSEVELT PREPARING TO GO TO OYSTER BAY

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(Special.)—Because the president is very busy preparing to go to Oyster Bay, there will be no more handshaking at the White House. It is announced that the only callers whom the president will see will be those who call on important business. It has been Mr. Roosevelt's practice ever since he has been in the White House to receive all visitors during the hours between 12 and 1 o'clock. That this was a very popular custom is evinced by the fact that the president has shaken hands with an average of 150 callers a day, the purpose of whose visits were only to see and greet the chief executive.

JAPAN READY FOR BIG FIGHT

Troops Are in Position to Give Battle Near Kaichau.

FLEETS ALSO BUSY

Mikado Will Reinforce Kamamura to Follow Up Port Arthur Victory.

ALEXIEFF IS SHY OF NEWS

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Tokyo, June 26.—It is announced today on reliable authority that a strong fleet has started for Vladivostok to reinforce that now under Admiral Kamamura. Japan is determined to follow up her latest victory over the Russians at Port Arthur by either destroying the Vladivostok squadron or so effectively blockading the harbor that the most serious menace to the safety of her transport ships will be removed.

This precaution is particularly necessary at the present time, as it is expected that the impending collision of the two great armies in southern Manchuria will in all probability decide the fate of the war with Russia. Kuroki, it is said, has so disposed his troops as to make it practically impossible for Kuropatkin to retreat without giving battle and exposing his army to a flank attack.

It is reported from Tientsin that 40,000 Russian troops are at Tashikiau, 15 miles north of Kaiping, where intrenchments are being erected and where it is expected a stand will be made against the Japanese.

Red Cross Buying Medicine.

Thirty officers of the Red Cross society went into Niuchwang yesterday and purchased medicines and comforts for the sick.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 26.—(Special Cable. Herald Copyright.)—Interest in the war once again is at high pressure. Great indeed is the jubilation here at the fact that the entire Russian fleet has been able to get out of Port Arthur. It comes as the best news in the course of the war.

Military opinion is unanimous in believing the Japanese are determined to force a battle. Their apparent slowness in operation is due to the desire both of Gens. Kuroki and Oku to advance independently. However, the difficulty of taking supplies over a broken country points to the probability of a battle, which it is admitted cannot be avoided.

The Siberian brigade under Gen. Krondratenko has joined Gen. Stakelberg, and combined with his forces in falling back upon the north. The Russians are terribly harassed by the Chungchuses, who are increasing in numbers and audacity daily. Gen. Ma is said to have moved northward into Mongolia, a fact which brings him nearer the seat of war and encourages the brigands.

Looking for Japanese.

A strong Russian cavalry division has been sent out to ascertain the whereabouts of the Japanese division whose mission was to intercept the meeting of Stakelberg and Kondratenke. The prevailing opinion here is that news of an important battle at any moment is likely to be heard.

The general staff has received the following dispatch from Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff dated June 25:

"On the morning of June 25 the enemy's advance guard, which was occupying the valley of the Kho river 10 miles southwest of Kaichau, fell back six miles.

"On June 24 a Japanese detachment of two companies of infantry and two squadrons of cavalry approached the village of Saidin in the mountains, seven miles from Kaichau, in a southerly direction. Patrols of the enemy also appeared in the Khouaivanfin locality, 15 1-5 miles east of Kaichau, and four and one-half miles northwest of the Chapan pass.

Close to Kaichau.

"A detachment of the Japanese advance guard has occupied the village of Taorithoon on the road from Siu-Yen to Kaichau. Japanese patrols are also posted between Kriadahoon and Maiavalsa, on the road from Khanza to Siakhotanou. Pandziatey and Pantchunion passes on the road from Siu-Yen to Kiaha

SUNK A BATTLESHIP

Mikado's Naval Commander Tells Details of Fight Off Port Arthur.

LIST OF DEAD YET UNKNOWN

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

Tokyo, June 26.—In a supplementary report of the naval battle at Port Arthur, Admiral Togo says:

"On June 23 my combined fleet attacked the enemy off Port Arthur early in the morning. The fact that the battleships Peresviet, Poltava and Sebastopol, with the cruisers Bayan, Pallada, Diana, Novik and Askold, preceded by several mine-dragging steamers, were emerging from the harbor entrance, was reported to me by wireless telegraphy from a scouting ship. Then, according to the arrangements previously made to provide against the enemy's egress, I hastened to the appointed rendezvous, sending my fourth and 14th destroyer flotillas to watch the enemy's movements.

"At 11 a. m. the Czarevitch, Retvizan and Pobieda joined the dragging steamers which commenced cruising about in the mined section and attempted to make the fairway, while we were troubling them.

"At 3 p. m. my fourth and 14th flotillas engaged seven of the enemy's destroyers, which were covering the dragging operations, and defeated them. One of the Russian vessels, catching fire, fled into the harbor. The Novik came out to cover the other flotillas and joined the main fleet.

"The enemy, having cleared the fairway, with the aid of their dragging steamers and the Novik, steamed out to sea. Our third fighting squadron, keeping in contact, drew the enemy southward on a southeasterly course. Our first squadron, hidden south of Gugan island, waited for the enemy, and concentrated all its destroyers.

"At 6:15 p. m. our first squadron sighted the enemy eight miles northwest of Gugan island. The Czarevitch was leading, with the Novik and the destroyers on her right, and they steamed south. At sunset, 8:20 p. m., I ordered the torpedo craft to attack the enemy. At 9:30 when five miles distant from the harbor, the fourteenth flotilla made the first attack on the enemy's rear.

"The fifth flotilla, following the enemy, were thrown into disorder, and could not make port, so they anchored at 10:30 p. m. in the readstead, where we attacked them eight times before dawn.

"At 10:30 p. m., our sixteenth flotilla dashed from Shoosen Point and launched two torpedoes into the bows of a battleship resembling the Peresveit, which immediately sank. We could ascertain no other results till morning, when we saw that a battleship was missing, and two vessels of the Sebastopol and Diana class unable to use their engines.

"On the 24th, Friday, the enemy's fleet entered the harbor, some towed and others under their own steam, the last getting in at 4 p. m."

Another official dispatch received prior to the foregoing said: "Soon after 3 o'clock in the morning of June 24th, while the Russian fleet was lying anchored in single line close to shore, and when the moon had set, the whole of our torpedo boats and destroyers, silently, flotilla after flotilla, crept along until they had got near the enemy, then amid the flashing of searchlights and shrieking of broadsides, each boat coolly fired her torpedoes and passed on. The enemy were unable to use their batteries on shore."

Ore Unloading Record Made.

NEW YORK, June 26.—(Special.)—Private advices received here tonight state that a record in rapid unloading of ore was made today at the docks of the Lackawanna Steel Company, at West Seneca, Buffalo, when 11,000 tons of material were handled in less than 11 hours, by special machinery. The steamship A. B. Wolvin, the largest ore carrier in the world, was unloaded by three Hulett automatic ore unloaders. Each machine took out 10 tons at a trip.

EIGHT LIVES LOST IN NEW YORK STORM

Houses Were Wrecked and Yacht Capsized While High Temperature Prevailed.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—At least eight lives were lost and a score of persons injured today in the most severe squall that has visited New York this summer. In East New York a house was totally demolished and two others badly damaged. In Queens borough a man was killed by lightning and others of a party, who with him took refuge under a tree, were stunned.

The sudden storm followed in the wake of the hottest June 26 in 28 years. Humidity which steadily rose from 73 degrees at 8 o'clock in the morning, culminated in a rain squall at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Many were prostrated by the heat.

Five persons were drowned in the bay off Forty-seventh street, Brooklyn, by the overturning of the 38-foot sloop yacht Elsie and Katie, in a heavy storm. Eight other persons who were on the yacht at the time were rescued by members of the Second naval battalion, who put out in whaleboats from their armory.

Those drowned were Mrs. Kate Clarke of Brooklyn, wife of Peter Clark, the owner of the yacht, her two daughters, Lizzie, aged 16, and Louise, aged 4; her 2-year-old niece, Mamie Clark, and Lizzie Iason, 16 years old. The bodies of Mrs. Clarke and that of Mamie Clarke have been recovered.

KENTUCKY FEUDISTS REPULSED A POSSE

Cockrill Outlaws Discovered in a House, but They Stood Off Sheriff's Party.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

JACKSON, KY., June 26.—The Cockrill feudists made another stand today in the home of one of their friends on a small branch of the Kentucky river, and after a sharp battle repulsed the posse led by Deputy Sheriff Hiram Centers, who returned here tonight after leaving watchers to guard the place.

"Little Ance" Short was captured and is in jail here. The Salyers boys and six followers are at the home of Jim Vires, only 10 miles from this place, where they opened fire on the posse this morning and succeeded in holding the place. They will more than likely make their way out tonight, although the guard left to watch the house is a strong one. No one was killed in the battle, since the posse was protected by a high rock fence. They fired several volleys into the house, but did no damage owing to the great distance.

The Salyers boys will likely be reinforced tonight, and when Sheriff Centers returns with Sheriff Callahan and a new posse tomorrow they will again give battle. "Ance" Short started out with the officers, but when he found they were about to discover the Salyers boys, he cut across the country and warned them. MacWhite, the Hargis man, who was killed, was buried today.

TWO HURT IN WRECK ON ALLEGHENY VALLEY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OIL CITY, PA., June 26.—An excursion train on the Pennsylvania railroad, returning from Titusville to this city, was wrecked at Rouseville, three miles north of here, tonight. The locomotive was overturned and a baggage car derailed.

Engineer John Quirk and Fireman John Boyle of this city were seriously injured. Quirk's arms and face were scalded by escaping steam and Boyle was injured about the back. None of the passengers were injured. The engine, drawing six coaches filled with excursionists from Warren, who had spent the day at Titusville, was running backward, and the accident was caused by the tender jumping the track at a switch.

Cleveland Couple Killed by Train.

CLEVELAND, O., June 26.—Christopher Frese, an ex-city councilman, and his wife, Louisa, both over 60 years old, were struck by a Lake Shore electric car this afternoon while crossing the tracks on the Clifton boulevard and killed. The husband was killed instantly and the wife died within a few minutes.

DOWIE ABUSES ENGLAND'S KING

"Prophet" of Zion City Indulges in Tirades Against King Edward VII.

NEW YORK SPEECH IS HISSED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 26.

Dwindling audiences heard John Alexander Dowie berate King Edward today at Carnegie hall. At the morning session 28 men and women were in one gallery, and the first 13 rows of the orchestra contained about 450 men, women and children. At the afternoon session there were only about 75 more men, women and children than were present in the morning. Twice loud hisses greeted Dowie. The first time was when he said:

"I am not going to say anything about King Edward until I get back to Zion City. I said King Edward has no piety to spare. In fact, he, I said, was like unto the condition of Job, who, you remember, escaped by the skin of his teeth."

Loud hisses and some faint applause followed this, and Dowie went on: "Two weeks ago today King Edward went down to the duke of Devonshire's to see some of his horses that were to run the following day, to get some pointers."

Hearty applause greeted a man who said audibly, "And he's a mighty good judge of horses, too."

The second time that the meeting threatened to become stormy was when Dowie again attacked King Edward, calling him an "anointed and cunning rascal." Waving his hands in the air and raising his voice to a screech, he strode up and down the platform, saying: "There never was a vlier prince cursed England than he who is now King Edward. It's true and I can prove it."

Half the audience hissed loudly and this seemed to enrage Dowie. He trembled with anger and shook his fist at the audience. A few applauded and some clapped their hands. Dowie shouted in a high falsetto tone: "Oh, you, you—there are only two creatures that hiss, the viper and the goose. Take your choice. I was amazed to know that my few remarks in England had shaken the throne. It only shows how weak it is."

LOOMIS HAS KNOWN MISS IVELLE TWO YEARS

Young Woman's Presence on Steamer With Missing Man Causes Sensation.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., June 26.—A sensation was caused here by the published London reports that Frederick Kent Loomis, who was missed from the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm six days ago, was seen much in the company of Miss Marian Ivelle of New York, and that he possibly fell in love with her.

The fact is that Miss Ivelle was well known to Loomis before he met her on the steamer. Two years ago he met her in New York and was much attracted, although friends and relatives here say that the story is absurd that he should have fallen in love.

Mrs. Loomis, wife of the missing man, was handed the published report tonight. She said that there was absolutely no foundation for the story, as she knew Miss Marian Ivelle as well as her husband.

"It is the only thing in the whole affair that I have found to laugh at," she said, half hysterically, but in her conduct she betrayed that she had fears that the story of her husband's attentions to the young woman was true.

The events of the past week have proven too much for Mrs. Loomis, and she is on the verge of nervous prostration. She received a message tonight from Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis, stating that her husband's brother had given up all hope that her husband was among the living.

Mrs. Loomis tonight received a telegram from friends in New York, stating that Mr. Loomis did not board the vessel with the Misses Ivelle, and that he must have met them after having boarded the ship en route for London.

APOSTOLIC DELEGATE DIES IN PHILIPPINES

Monsignor Guidi Expires of Heart Failure—To Be Buried at Rome.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MANILA, June 26.—Monsignor Guidi, apostolic delegate to the Philippines, died today of heart failure. The funeral will take place here next Friday and the remains will be interred two months later at Rome.

Monsignor Guidi was sent to the Philippine islands nearly two years ago as the representative of the vatican in the negotiations with the Philippine commissioners for the sale of the friar lands to the American government. An agreement was reached early in December last by Gov. Taft and the friars. The settlement provided for the purchase of 403,000 acres, comprising all of the friar lands in the islands. The price paid for the lands was $7,250,000.

YOUNG GIRL SHOOTS BABY BROTHER BY MISTAKE

WASHINGTON, PA., June 26.—(Special.)—"Look out, now; I'm going to shoot!" As Jessie Smith, 8 years old, uttered these words with a laugh, she pointed a revolver at her baby brother, 11 months old, and pressed the trigger. There was a sudden report and in a few minutes the child was dead. The Smith family lives in the Pigeon Creek valley, two and a half miles from the Bentleyville campmeeting grounds. The father is a farmer. The girl supposed that all the chambers of the revolver were empty.

WANT GUFFEY TO FIGHT HILL

The Colonel Requested to Turn in for a Dark Horse Candidate.

WILL CONFER HERE

Representative of Eastern Combine Will Meet Pennsylvania Leader on Wednesday.

WOMEN ARE FOR CLEVELAND

Effort will be made this week to get Col. J. M. Guffey to join in a scheme to assist in stampeding the St. Louis Democratic national convention to a dark horse presidential candidate. The cry is anyone to defeat Judge Parker of New York.

During the past week numerous attempts have been made to get an agreement from Col. Guffey that he would not assist in the nomination of Parker. The colonel does not appear to be making agreements of any kind. Some of the wise ones say that he has a perfect understanding with the New Yorker and at the proper time he will swing the Pennsylvania delegates into line.

The Tammany crowd does not want Parker because it is afraid that if he is elected ex-Senator D. B. Hill will be the power behind the throne and manipulate the administration to the disadvantage of the diger. For several weeks there has been a movement to center upon some man who can defeat Parker.

Word was received in Pittsburgh Saturday that the combiners had picked their man and would send a representative here on Wednesday to talk with Col. Guffey. A conference has been arranged. The man who is coming is one of ex-President Cleveland's closest friends, but it is doubtful whether he is coming to press the claims of the Princeton statesman.

There is some reason for believing that Mayor George B. McClellan of New York is the dark horse the anti-Hill men have settled upon. There is also talk of of Judge George Gray of Delaware, and numerous whispers about ex-Gov. Pattison of Philadelphia.

Col. Guffey's friends say that he has a great friendliness for Parker and that if he is satisfied that the judge can be nominated and show reasonable promise of election, the 68 delegates from Pennsylvania will be delivered to him. So far Col. Guffey has given no public intimation of his preference, insisting that he wants to be free in St. Louis to do the best thing for the party.

Col. Guffey left Pittsburgh Saturday afternoon and said that he would not return to the city until tomorrow. Before going he announced his trip had nothing to do with politics. Last night it was learned that he had gone to New York.

One hears a great deal of talk about Cleveland. The man who pays little attention to politics is filled with the belief that the Democrats will again make Cleveland their standard bearer. The other day a New Yorker was in Pittsburgh talking Cleveland as a probable dark horse. When asked for his reason he said:

"The women are back of him and they are a mighty power. It was only a few days ago that I lunched with wives of two members of the cabinet under Cleveland. They told me that they were going to Princeton that day to take dinner with Mrs. Cleveland and asked me to go with them. They insisted that many influential Democrats would go to St. Louis carrying instructions from their wives to turn the convention to Cleveland."

Prisoner Has Nine Wives.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., June 26.—(Special.)—David Seeley, 80 years of age, is under arrest charged with bigamy. The charge is preferred by Mrs. Julia A. Blanchard of this city. Seeley married her last April, when it is alleged he had eight other wives living.

DEATH BETTER THAN POVERTY

An Illinois Woman Killed Three Children and Herself.

FORCED FROM HOME

Threatened With Ejectment She Bathed the Little Ones, Then Turned on Gas.

EACH DRESSED FOR FUNERAL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Chicago, June 26.—Threatened with starvation and with her husband hopelessly insane in the asylum at Kankakee, Mrs. Anna Kelsdzick gave up the struggle for existence, killed her three small children and then ended her own life. Illuminating gas was the means of destruction she adopted, and when the bodies were found early today, all four had been dead several hours.

The family lived in three small rooms at 965 North Robey street, and today a constable was sent to eject the mother and her babies from the premises for the non-payment of rent. It was after Mrs. Kelsdzick had been served with a summons to appear in court that she decided to end the lives of herself and little ones. The three children, Bruno, Herman and Walter, aged 7, 5 and 2 years, respectively, were found in bed, locked in each other's arms. The mother's lifeless body was found lying on the kitchen floor, while gas was escaping from a jet in the room.

That the woman made every preparation to do away with herself and children was evident. She first wrote and sealed a letter addressed to a relative in Germany. Then she bathed herself and donned clean linen. Each child had also been given a bath, clean nightgowns placed upon them and the little ones sent to the sleep from which they would never awaken.

Several months ago Kelsdzick, who was out of work at the time, became insane from brooding over his troubles, and was sent to the asylum. Since that time the mother, who was in poor health, had had a hard struggle for existence. Last week she became so ill that she was unable to work any more and spent her last dollar for food for herself and the children Saturday afternoon. With ejectment from her home staring her in the face and with no money in her possession to procure another, she took the lives of her babies and her own to end her troubles.

YOUNG GIRL AT HEAD OF LYNCHING PARTY

Mississippi Child Places Rope Around Negro's Neck in Presence of Mob.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

EUROPA, MISS., June 26.—Starling Dunham, a negro, wanted on the charge of attacking the 16-year-old daughter of John Wilson, a white man, near Hellefontaine, two weeks ago, and three young ladies named Dunn near this city, all during the course of the same day, was hanged in the public square here today by a mob.

The noose was placed about the negro's neck by the little Wilson girl, who positively identified him as her assailant. The negro was then placed on the back of a large black horse and at a signal from the leader of the mob the girl led the horse from under him.

Over 3,000 persons witnessed the hanging. The lynching was as orderly as a legal execution. After being assured that the negro was dead the mob cut down the body and turned it over to relatives for burial.

Dunham was captured Friday near Vienna, Ala., after a running chase during which he was wounded in two places. A large mob met the train at the depot and an effort was made to get the negro, but the officers spirited him away and carried him to the jail at Walthall, six miles from here, where he was again met by a mob. The officers promised to deliver the negro to the mob this morning for execution. There was a strong sentiment for burning, but this was overcome and the lynching took the form of a hanging.

MONARCHS AT WORSHIP DURING KIEL REGATTA

King Edward and Emperor William Did Not Participate in Yacht Races.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

KIEL, June 26.—The improved weather this morning brought out large crowds of holiday makers. King Edward and Emperor William did not participate in the regatta which took place under most favorable conditions, there being a clear sky and a strong westerly wind.

The race for schooner yachts over a 27-mile course was won by Morton F. Plant's Ingomar, which secured the first jubilee prize and a challenge cup offered by the North German Regatta club. The Meteor III. was second and the Hamburg was third. Robert Goelet's 30-foot Swan won the race for boats of the third class, securing the challenge cup.

King Edward and Emperor William attended divine servie on board the German imporial yacht Hohenzollern and afterward took lunch on board the emperor's yacht Iduna, which did not take part in the regatta. Later King Edward accompanied by Prince Henry and other members of the royal party paid an informal visit to the Royal Yacht club.

Among those present at the luncheon were the emperor and the empress, King Edward, Count von Buelow, the German imperial chancellor and the marquis of Ormonde.

The emperor and the empress dined this evening with King Edward on board the British royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

PROMINENT CITIZEN IS SHOT DODGING ARREST

Frank Craig of Coraopolis Rather Than Be Made a Prisoner Jumped Through Window and Is Fatally Wounded by Officer Harper.

One prominent citizen of Coraopolis lies dying from a bullet wound and a policeman is under arrest in Central station, in this city, as the result of a Saturday night raid on a speakeasy in the borough. After the shooting the policeman was a prisoner in the borough lockup, yesterday, when such a mob of angry citizens surrounded the place, muttering vengeance, that the chief of police resolved to bring his prisoner to this city, and managed to do so despite the crowd.

Frank Craig, aged 22, a glassworker, is the victim, shot through the kidneys, and Robert Harper, a borough policeman, wounded him while trying to escape the disgrace of being taken to the police station. Chief of Police Rody R. McCutcheon of Coraopolis gave orders Saturday night to raid the alleged speakeasy on the premises of Mrs. Craig. Frank Craig was the only visitor found in the house, but is not related to the woman who ran it. He seemed to feel the disgrace and wanted the chief to take a forfeit of $30 in the house, there and then, and let him go for a hearing. This the official refused to do, saying that the prisoners would have to go to the police station where a forfeit would be accepted.

Craig asked again if this was final and finding it was, suddenly jumped through a window, evidently believing there were no officers outside. Close to the window through which the escaping man came was Officer Harper, who immediately gave chase. He caught Craig and they had a hand-to-hand encounter but Craig succeeded in breaking away. Harper went after him again and drew his revolver. He shouted to Craig to stop, but as the latter showed no signs of doing so, he fired, as he says, in the air. Craig screamed and fell in a heap. He was taken to the home of his father, John Craig, where it was found that he was in such a serious condition that physicians were sent for from Pittsburgh in order to hold a consultation.

They decided he could scarcely live. The news spread rapidly and as young Craig was popular in the borough, and his offense was considered not to be serious, there were mutterings by many citizens. Chief McCutcheon telephoned to Assistant District Attorney Robb, who advised him to arrest the officer using the revolver. Harper was accordingly put in the borough lockup at a late hour Saturday evening.

Yesterday the citizens learned his whereabouts and over 200 surrounded the place making threats. Finally, seeing the temper of the people, Chief McCutcheon brought his prisoner to Central station, in this city, where Magistrate Stewart agreed to hold the prisoner until this morning and then commit him to jail.

The chief will go into court today and try to have his officer released on bail, as the prisoner says the shooting was purely accidental, that he fired directly overhead and did not know the pistol was even turned in the direction of the victim.

Blue Ridge Region in Southern Pennsylvania and Maryland Watching Law Suit Over Bite from Luscious Dessert Made by Farmer's Wife.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YORK, PA., June 26.—Ezra Mehring and George W. Hilterbrick, two wealthy men of Littletown, Pa., have become involved in lawsuits over a wedge of mince pie valued at 6½ cents, and all the Mehrings and Hilterbricks, rich and poor, living in the Blue Ridge region, beginning in Pennsylvania and extending into Maryland, are divided in a bitter feud because of the differences of the representative members of the two houses.

George W. Hilterbrick, who is worth about $80,000, and lives just outside of Littletown on one of the finest farms in Adams county, alleges that, on March 20, Mehring visited his farm, stealthily entered his house while Mrs. Hilterbrick who was in an upper apartment sleeping, was the only occupant, and taking a mince pie from the pantry, warmed it upon the stove and appeased his appetite with a quarter portion of the pie. As he was leaving the house according to his accusers, he was seen by the wife, who had been aroused by the sounds downstairs.

On April 2 Hilterbrick published an account of Mehring's visit to his farm in an Adams county newspaper, together with a warning to Mehring to keep off his premises. This caused Mehring to sue Hilterbrick for slander. Hilterbrick thereupon preferred charges of trespass and the larceny of a portion of mince pie against Mehring. Both had hearings before justices and their suits will be tried at Gettysburg the fourth week in August.

Mehring admits visiting Hilterbrick's home on Sunday, March 20 but denies purloining the pie. He said the object of his visit there on that date was to inspect a cream separator which it was his intention to buy. Prior to the mince pie incident he and Hilterbrick were on the friendliest terms.

Mehring lives in an old mansion in Littletown and his neighbors estimate his wealth at $100,000.

ADLEY TALKS TO YALE GRADUATES

President of University Pleads With Young Men to Lead Upright Lives.

BACCALAUREATE AT RADCLIFFE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 26.—Yale's commencement week was formally opened today when President Arthur T. Hadley delivered the baccalaureate address in Woolsey hall, Yale's magnificent new auditorium. There are a large number of commencement guests here from all parts of the country.

President Hadley, after reviewing the tendencies of the times, said that faith, inspiration for the better things and enthusiastic devotion, make a nation really great, continued:

If wealth and dominion follow as a result of faith and enthusiasm they are good. But if wealth and dominion are made a primary object and are trusted as a source of national strength instead of its consequence or evidence, they prove a false reliance. And it is an unfortunate fact that very few nations have achieved wealth or dominion without suffering loss of faith and enthusiasm, and remaining with the empty husk of greatness, at the very moment when they deemed themselves most powerful.

"There are two philosophies of life which are offered to us in place of the religion of our fathers—one which lays stress on the natural impulses as superior in authority to the dictates of a conventional morality; the other which looks to enlightened selfishness as the means by which mankind is to be delivered from unenlightened restraints of tradition. I believe that each of these philosophies is erroneous; that the one means a reversion toward savagery, the other a degeneration toward social weakness.

"There is a school of writers like Zola or D'Annunzio which lays great stress on what it calls the primal instincts of mankind. These writers think that man remains at bottom an animal, moved by animal impulses and passions; that to feel these passions strongly is a sign of strength and that to have them under complete control is an indication of weakness.

"These animal passions have their place in life. They may often serve as impulses to civilization. But this fact does not one whit abate the necessity that these things should be controlled by some strong force residing within the man which shall make him the master of these impulses and not their slave. It is of no purpose to dignify these passions by the name of primal instinct.

"Our chief danger comes from the other quarter—from trusting to the work of reason in places where we are imperfectly prepared for its operation. Most of us are so constituted and trained that the relaxation of discipline will not leave us at the mercy of blind passion; but it may leave us at the mercy of an almost equally blind spirit of selfish calculation.

"Some every evil, political, social or commercial, which constitutes a serious menace to the permanent prosperity of our country can be traced directly to our tolerant acceptance of selfishness as a basis of morality.

"Do not be blind to this truth; that if you have no higher motive than your own personal interest it means that your soul is for sale if the price be made sufficiently high. It is for you to show in your lives that the honor of a gentleman is not for sale; the faith of a Christian something more than an empty form of speech.

"Gentlemen of the graduating class: The really fundamental thing in a man's life is his choice of a religion. Two religions are today struggling for the mastery. There is the religion of mammon, whose dominant purpose is selfishness and whose creed is indifference to moral considerations, except so far as they may be regarded as instruments of individual advancement. There is the religion of God, whose purpose is service and whose creed is loyalty to something larger than yourselves. The Christian choice is the higher choice."

In the annual award of Yale scholarships and prizes tonight Western Pennsylvania boys played a leading part. They scored as follows: Class of 1906, Sheffield Scientific school, for excellence in all studies of freshman year, first, George Frederick Gundelfinger of Sewickley; excellence in physics, divided between Mr. Gundelfinger and William Ulrich of Hartford; excellence in German, Mr. Gundelfinger; first excellence in chemistry, Mr. Gundelfinger. Second excellence in mathematics, divided between Mr. Gundelfinger and George White of Danbury, Conn.; oration, Garrett Arthur Brownback of Linfield; dissertation, Karl Watson Warmcastle; second disputes, Robert Lincoln Smithley of Allegheny. Fred Agar Wickson of Stroudsburg; second colloquies, Christopher McGee Anderson of Pittsburgh, John Frederick Byers of Allegheny and Joseph Horne Holmes of Pittsburgh.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., June 26.—Bishop William Lawrence of the Episcopal church of Massachusetts preached the baccalaureate sermon to the seniors of Radcliffe college today.

The first thought he wished to impress upon his hearers was that any woman who is going to do the best work in this pushing, restless age, must have a high degree of self-control, the control alone and efficiency of the quiet of the home.

In closing he asked members of the graduating class to pledge themselves that into whatever walks of life they might be called, they would always keep in touch with the silent forces of the city, that by home, friendship, spiritual communion and to divine faith they might live lives in serenity.

Republican Strength in Oregon Indicated by Judge Moore's Big Majority.

SALEM, ORE., June 26.—The official canvass of the vote cast at the state election, held June 6, was completed today. The total vote cast was 99,315. For congressman, First district, Binger Hermann (Rep.) received 6,813 majority over R. M. Veatch (Dem.); Second district, J. M. Williamson (Rep.) 14,353 over J. E. Simmons (Dem.).

For state supreme judge Frank T. Moore (Rep.) received 24,217 majority over Thomas O'Day (Dem.). Interest in the election centers in Moore's plurality. Judge Moore and Judge O'Day are both popular men with the rank and file of their respective parties, and it is claimed that each man polled his full party strength, the result being a fair basis for approximating the Republican majority in this state.

TRIED BRIDGE WRECKING.

Two Men Bind and Gag Watchman, Then Try to Tear Down Structural Work.

OIL CITY, PA., June 26.—(Special.)—Two men bound and gagged Watchman A. J. Morris late last night and then deliberately set to work to tear down the loose iron framework of the new bridge being built across the Allegheny river at Big Rock by the Citizens Traction Company of this city.

The men stretched a steel cable from an engine used by the construction company to the upper edge of the bridge and labored until daylight, but could not move the structural work. The watchman was found tied to a tree this morning. He gave a good description of the men. The structure is being erected by a Buffalo bridge firm.

The Pittsburgh agency of The Equitable Life Assurance Society has just turned over to the beneficiaries a check for $100,000.00, the proceeds of a policy on the life of a prominent Western Pennsylvania manufacturer, who died a few days ago.

The check came back from the home office of the Equitable by return mail, when proofs of death were forwarded.

The promptness with which this claim was paid is a sample of the Equitable's way of doing business. Every claim, big and little, is paid by return mail, except in a few rare instances where the delay of a day or so is made necessary by defects in proofs of death.

HAAS PREACHES ON SLOCUM FIRE

Bereaved Pastor Speaks Words of Cheer to Remnant of His Flock.

GREED CAUSED THE DISASTER

NEW YORK, June 26.—With his physical scars yet unhealed and with the scars made in his heart by the horrible death of his wife and little daughter deeper than ever, Pastor George C. F. Haas today walked slowly to the chancel of St. Mark's church, and for the first time since the General Slocum went down, carrying with it many women and little ones of his flock, he preached to the thinned remnants of those who loved and revered him.

Pastor Haas, led to the chancel by his dear friend, Dr. Holstein of Brooklyn, sat down with a sigh and buried his face in his hands. As he sat with heaving heart, soft music of a simple Lutheran hymn floated from the organ loft where the pastor's young son was at the keyboard.

Under the soothing influence of the beautiful strains, the pastor seemed to recover his ebbing strength, and for a moment he raised his head and looked at the sea of black and white before him. Hundreds of the faces he had been so accustomed to seeing Sunday after Sunday were gone, and in their places were friends or relatives of the lost ones. The transition was more than he could bear, and for the only time during the services his broad shoulders shook with sobs as his head fell in an attitude of prayer.

Dr. Haas, in a broken and halting voice announced his sermons from I. Corinthians, viii:13, and said as he held his hand over his eyes: "But now abideth faith, hope and love, these three; and the greatest of these is love."

Even these words were too much for him, and for a time he stood as if stricken dumb, on the verge of total collapse. Once more his strength returned, however, and he was able to proceed.

"Even after all that has happened, my friends, my faith in God remains strong," he said in a voice that was almost inaudible.

At first the pastor's voice was like the organ in the soft passage of the hymns, faint and wavering; but as he proceeded his ponderous voice swelled in volume until it pierced to every corner of the church, and his words, in the German tongue, fell distinctly from his lips.

"We cannot pay too high a tribute to the church officers and teachers who tried to do so much at that fatal time, and who lost their lives in the catastrophe. With a mystery we have no understanding why a just and loving Master should visit this awful thing on a God-fearing congregation, but it is not for us to ask why He did it. What is now an awful calamity may in the end prove a blessing.

"It is not God who is responsible for this calamity. It is the negligence, carelessness and greed of those who were responsible. I thank God for it, because it has opened the eyes of the whole city and whole country to what is required and necessary to save others from a like fate. And no one on that fatal boat died in vain, for their deaths have been a lesson to all. The accident shows that God's laws cannot be violated, although human laws are.

"In this, our darkest hour, with its great burden of afflictions that have come upon us, I still look up to God. 'He strikes a silence at our murmurs.'"

Crowds, with heads bowed and uncovered, lined both sides of East river today as the blackened hulk of the General Slocum was towed up to a dock in Erie basin, where it is to be inspected by the federal authorities. The flags on the tugs having the wreck in tow were at half mast, and when passing Barretto point, where the Slocum sank, and where so many lost their lives, the flags were dipped. The craft in the harbor dipped their flags as the flotilla passed. One more body, that of a woman badly burned and not yet identified, was recovered today.

GREATER THAN GOLD.

Dr. Shrom Describes the Value of a Good Public School Teacher.

The Rev. Dr. W. P. Shrom, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, preached yesterday morning on "Higher Salaries for Teachers." He said in part:

The full hand of the word of God leads on to education. The application of the truths is to this subject as we familiarly understand it. The influence of the word of God as found in the scriptures encourages the study of the other words of God as revealed in nature, and in man himself. This study enlarges the view of God in all His works. It is a most inspiring, grand, the work of education, as we now know it, has been a development from and gone hand in hand with the gospel. We may think of this church as the visible representative of the opened word of God, but the church has built and manned with teachers the first of the schools. The public schools of this state are found only where the church is found.

There is a factor in a personality, a living conscious personality, that contributes most to the determining manhood and womanhood of the child. That factor is the teacher. In many homes the struggle for the existence of life is all to severe one, and neither time nor disposition is left to give attention to wise child-training. But in the school room for five hours each day, for five days each week, and for 10 months each year, these children come under the personal influence of a skilled teacher. What they get from that teacher in the way of learning to study is very important and necessary. But there is something that becomes even more important than all else, that is—there is something that enters more fully into the fiber of their being and of their character. It is that irresistible something that passes from one life into another. This is the large part of the value and the work of the teacher. There is no office higher than that of the teacher of youth, for there is nothing on earth so precious as the mind, the soul and the character of the child. Those teachers should be worthy the parents' confidence; should be among their most welcome guests. Such is the teacher whose value cannot be paid in gold. We demand the best and we should pay for it—it is simple justice that we should.

SLEUTHS CHASING SMITH AND WIFE

Exciting Hunt in Philadelphia Fails to Find Sister of Mrs. Patterson.

HAD VISITED SICK MOTHER

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Hunted through Philadelphia today by detectives from three cities, Morgan Smith and his young wife kept continually ahead of their pursuers, and tonight seemed to have found a safe refuge for the next few hours.

Mrs. Smith is a sister of Mrs. Nan Patterson, the New York actress under indictment for shooting Caesar Young. Mr. Smith is believed by the police to be the man who purchased the revolver with which Young was shot. Both Smith and his wife left New York about the time subpoenas had been served upon them to appear before the grand jury.

It was while in flight to her dying mother that Mrs. Smith furnished the police with the clew which they were now so closely following. The old mother lives in Washington. She has been ill for some time and her condition became so serious that a telegram was sent to Mrs. Patterson in New York on the day of Young's death. She had planned to start for Washington at once after the ride with Young, but her arrest on suspicion prevented her from paying the intended visit to her mother.

The shock of the daughter's arrest caused the mother to sink rapidly and Mrs. Smith's flight from New York is said to have been largely due to her anxiety to prevent becoming involved in legal trouble, it might forbid her visit to her dying mother.

While the police did not know that the aged woman was dying it was thought possible that the Smiths might seek a hiding place there, so the house was closely watched. Despite this watch Mr. and Mrs. Smith gained a painting entrance to the house and had been there an entire day before their presence became known. Before the police could secure a warrant, however, they had escaped and, as events proved, started for this city. Their flight has been race-companied by several sensational features, was today continued in this city, where Smith and his wife had sought shelter after being nearly captured in Washington.

The hunting party consisted of three detectives from New York, five of District Attorney Jerome's agents, two detectives from Washington and two from this city, together with whatever aid could be rendered by the entire force, to which general orders had been given to look out for Smith and his wife. The men from Washington were Detective Sergeants Weedon and Tyser. The three detectives from New York were O'Brien, Reidy and Armstrong.

Twice the Smiths were within a few seconds of being captured. Once they stepped from a window of their room in a Chestnut street apartment house to the roof of the next house and from there down a fire escape, while their pursuers were making the front door. Later, just after they had made arrangements to stop at an Arch street boarding place, they saw two of their pursuers making a canvass of the houses on the opposite side of the street, and they made a quick exit by the back door. At a late hour tonight the sleuths were still searching.

CENTENNIAL AT FRANKLIN.

Big Crowd Attends Service in Park Where First Methodist Sermon Was Preached.

FRANKLIN, PA., June 26.—(Special.)—Today was the third day of the celebration of the centennial of the Methodist Episcopal church and one of the greatest in its history. Bishop Charles W. Fowler of New York preached a sermon in the Methodist church on "The Exaltation of Jesus."

At 3 o'clock a novel feature of the program was the services held by the Sunday school and Epworth league in the public park, near the spot where the first Methodist sermon was preached 100 years ago. The Sunday school scholars and league formed in a long line and marched from the church to the park, where hundreds of townspeople had gathered. The services were led by the Rev. D. C. Osborne and short addresses were made by Bishop Fowler, Dr. Crawford and other visiting ministers.

The day's program closed with a sermon by Dr. W. H. Crawford, president of Allegheny college of Meadville, who preached to a congregation that filled the church this evening.

ALASKA MINER DEAD.

Edward Henrihan of Braddock Was Expected Home from Skagway.

James Harraway of Hawkins Station, foreman of Section A of the Westinghouse electrical works, received word yesterday from Skagway, Alaska, that his wife's brother, Edward Henrihan, is dead there.

Mrs. Harraway received a letter a few days ago from her brother saying that he would leave Skagway for Braddock in about 10 days.

Edward Henrihan was 38 years old, and before going to Skagway he accumulated wealth at Cripple Creek. During the Klondike excitement he abandoned Cripple Creek and started for the new gold field. He continued to be fortunate in his mining operations and at the time of his death is supposed to have amassed about $200,000. The message received by Mr. Harraway said that Mr. Henrihan's body had been shipped to Braddock.

JAPAN IS ALL READY FOR THE BIG FIGHT

chau continue to be occupied by the enemy.

"There is no change in the locality from Siu-Yen to Hai-Cheng.

"Our rifles had a skirmish June 24 with a Japanese patrol on the road from Fung-Wang-Cheng to Hai-Cheng, 15½ miles northwest of Fung-Wang-Cheng. The enemy had one man killed.

"Towards the evening of June 24 it was found that the Japanese were advancing from Sarganhcon via Hai-Cheng. Their advance guard, composed of two companies, occupied the village of Kangapouzo. A small body of the enemy also occupied Tungopouze, five miles northwest of Seiujan."

Up to tonight the Japanese report of the loss of three Russian ships at Port Arthur has not been printed here, though the authorities have allowed to be printed a statement that the squadron had made a sortie, and also the news of the loss of Japanese torpedo boat destroyers.

Ready for Censorship.

An official explanation of the suppression of the Japanese report is that the admiralty is unwilling to unnecessarily alarm the public by the circulation of such statements entirely on the authority of the enemy, and in the absence of definite advices from the commander at Port Arthur. On the other hand, according to a foreign naval attache, the admiralty admitted today that Rear Admiral Withoft (the naval commander at Port Arthur), lost one battleship and two cruisers, but in the absence of details there was an inclination to believe that the ships struck mines, the admiralty not believing that, in the face of the lessons taught by the injuries to the Retvizan and Czarevitch, Admiral Withoft would have remained in the outer roadstead at night, thus inviting a dash by the Japanese destroyers.

In high court and army and navy circles, where the report of the Port Arthur affair has been freely circulated, the Japanese version is received with considerable reserve.

Blow a Severe One.

The officials do not attempt to disguise the seriousness of and the far-reaching consequences which might result from the loss of three of the Port Arthur warships, but they profess to be more inclined to believe that the vessels were lost in open fight rather than as the result of a torpedo attack. Should this be the case, they say the Japanese could not have escaped without material loss and the crippling of one or two of their battleships, enough to secure the command of the sea to the Baltic squadron.

A general tension is evident in the city tonight. There are many rumors afloat and every one is realizing that most important news may be expected at any moment.

Under date of June 26, Viceroy Alexieff telegraphs the emperor as follows:

"Our Port Arthur squadron, commanded by Rear Admiral Withoft, consisting of six battleships, five cruisers and 10 torpedo boats, put to sea at 8 o'clock on the morning of June 23. According to reports received from the signal stations on the Lia-Tie-Shan promontory, the ships went out without accident.

Alexieff Has No News.

"When our vessels reached open water the enemy's fleet, consisting of nine large ships, of which three were battleships, and 22 torpedo boats, was sighted on the horizon. Our squadron attacked the enemy.

"Up to the present I have received no news of the result of the fighting."

SEOUL, June 26.—A telegram received here from Wonson, Korea, reports that Russian troops have burned numerous dwelling houses in the towns of Kiiju and Hamheung, and that at the latter place women were subjected to ill treatment.

One thousand Russian troops are commandeering live stock, foods and carts from a wide area in Northeastern Korea. These men are on their way to Vladivostok, and will cross the Tumen river by means of recently constructed bridges. There are three cases of cholera here. The men affected are natives and the disease has not appeared among the Japanese troops.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—This cablegram was received at the Japanese legation today from Tokyo, Japan:

"Gen. Oku reports that our casualties at Telissu were 247 killed, including seven officers, and 946 wounded, including 43 officers."

TOLSTOY IS VIOLENT.

He Issues Thunderous Philippic Against the Russian Government.

LONDON, June 27.—The Times this morning prints a 1½-column dissertation on the Russo-Japanese war, written by Count Tolstoy, in his most violent style. The trend of this remarkable document is, first, against all war, but it is particularly a thundrous philippic against the Russian government, and the Russian orthodox church, and generally against the existing order of things.

The 10 columns breathe gloomy forebodings and preach revolution. Tolstoy holds the emperor up to contempt as an "unfortunate and entangled young man, recognized as the leader of 130,000,000 people, continually deceived and compelled to contradict himself."

Tolstoy, however, does not stop with Russia, for Japan is given a share of his stinging comments for having forcibly resisted what he terms the "unprovoked aggression of Russia."

BYERS MAY SWING FOR LAYTON DEATH

Gov. Pennypacker Still Looking Over Testimony in Murder Case.

IS INTERESTED IN THE CASE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
HARRISBURG, PA., June 26.

Gov. Pennypacker is still holding under advisement the recommendation of the board of pardons for a commutation of the death sentence of William J. Byers of Allegheny county, to life imprisonment, and declines to say when he will take final action.

Byers' case has been in the governor's hands since last March and the fact that he is making a careful study of the testimony leads to the belief among the members of the board that he will set aside their recommendation and allow him to be hanged.

Byers killed August T. Layton at Turtle Creek in June, 1901, and the case, during the trial, was one of great interest in Allegheny county. The testimony showed that Mrs. Nellie McWilliams, who was Layton's wife at the time of the murder, intended to marry Byers as soon as Layton was out of the way. Instead of marrying Byers the woman married John McWilliams and she, with McWilliams and Byers, were tried on the charge of murdering Layton.

Haymaker Made a Plea.

Byers was convicted of murder in the first degree and the other two were acquitted. Ex-District Attorney Haymaker, who prosecuted all of these cases, secured a recommendation from the board of pardons for commutation of sentence, on the plea that, without the testimony of Byers, the commonwealth could not have gone to trial against Mrs. Layton and John McWilliams, and that under the circumstances Byers was entitled to some consideration. The governor is taking a great interest in the case and much of his spare time has been devoted to studying the testimony. The members of the board are convinced from his action that he does not regard this as a case where executive clemency will be shown, and they will be most agreeably surprised if he approves their recommendation.

The board is still holding under advisement the application of Dr. Thomas L. Johnston of Duncannon, who is serving out the sentence in the Eastern penitentiary for the murder, seven years ago, of his neighbor, Dr. George S. Henry.

Said to Be Insane.

Johnston's attorneys allege that he was insane when he killed Henry, that his mind has since been restored, and that, therefore, he ought not to be further confined.

Henry's widow and friends are fighting the application and it is thought the board will have to decide the case. It has attracted much attention in Perry county, where both men lived at the time of the killing, and sentiment is about evenly divided on the application. Johnston is suffering from agina pectoris and it is reported his friends say he will not return to his former home.

The board has taken a vacation until September and it is thought no action will be taken during the recess in the case of Johnston, and that of Mrs. Kate Edwards, who shares county murderess and her alleged negro accomplice, Samuel Greason, which has been pending for nearly two years. There is a strong sentiment among the members of the board against this woman, and it seems to be conceded that they will finally refuse to commute her sentence and that she will be hanged.

TOO MUCH HEAT; PARKS DESERTED

Ice Blocks Had to Be Given the Polar Bears in the Highland Zoo.

OPEN AIR SERVICES WERE HELD

So intense was the heat yesterday afternoon that but few people ventured forth and as a result both Highland and Schenley parks were comparatively deserted. The sun beat down on the driveways so fiercely that most of the hundreds of vehicles to be seen in the big pleasure grounds on Sundays were missing during the afternoon. The open air services, conducted by the Rev. S. Edward Young, at Highland park, and the last organ recital of the season at Schenley park, were the chief centers of interest. At the Highland park service there was about 1,000 people present.

The Braddock Library band played selections and accompanied the singing. The Rev. S. Edward Young said in part:

Get an idea, a new, nigh idea, now. The best will be Paul's—in substance this, that God wants you to do a work for Him and fellow-mortals, a work nobody besides yourself can do so well, a work glorious enough to sweep your entire being with enthusiasm. Stay! Remember, He wants the worker first and then the work. Would you have a fine formula for consecrating yourself? Here it is—Paul's: "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do?"

The animals at the zoo felt the high temperature and the big cats lay around with their tongues out. During the day two of the young kangaroos died suddenly, and Keeper Ernest Kretow attributed their death to heat. During the day several large cakes of ice were placed in the pools in the cages of the polar bears, but even then they showed unmistakable signs of discomfort.

Edward J. Napier was the organist at the last free recital of the season in Carnegie institute yesterday afternoon and was well received by the small audience in attendance, the heat keeping hundreds of people away. Organist Edwin H. Lemare is on his vacation and the recitals will not be resumed until his return, Saturday evening, October 1.

Superintendent Burke had arranged a nice display of flowers in the Phipps conservatory. Few people saw the exhibit, however, as the afternoon sun made the glass buildings not unlike a Turkish bath.

About 3 o'clock four small boys who had been boating in the Panther hollow lake were precipitated into the water by the capsizing of their craft. The water was not deep and aside from the soiling of their clothes the boys seemed to enjoy the ducking and were in no haste to leave the water.

In the West park, Allegheny, in the evening, about 6,000 people attended the open air service at which Bartley's Military band played and accompanied the singing. The Rev. J. Addison Platts spoke, as did the Rev. S. Edward Young.

WOMAN KILLED BY BICYCLIST

Body of Negro Deckhand Is Found in River at Glenwood.

OTHER CASES AT MORGUE

Knocked down by a bicyclist late Saturday night, Mrs. J. M. Gorman, aged 60, of 7136 Kelly street, died at her home last evening from her injuries. According to neighbors, Mrs. Gorman was walking across the street in front of her home when struck by the man on a bicycle. She was thrown against the curbing and fractured her skull. The wheelman rode away rapidly after the accident and his identity is unknown.

The body of Charles Barnett, colored, a deck hand on the towboat J. C. Woodward, who was thrown from the boat into the river at Glenwood, Friday afternoon, was recovered yesterday and sent to Manorville, Armstrong county, for burial. Over the right eye was an abrasion. Earl McIntyre, also a negro, who is alleged to have been fighting with Barnett at the time of the accident, is in jail.

Charles W. McDonald, aged 38, of 853 Washington avenue, Braddock, died yesterday morning from burns received by bursting steam pipe in the plant of the Home Brewing Company, where he was employed as engineer.

Suffering from a weak heart, caused by inhaling gas about six weeks ago, Mrs. William Armstrong, aged 59, colored, of 221 Spring alley, dropped dead at Arch and Jackson streets, Allegheny, Saturday night.

Mrs. Catherine Creese, aged 71, was found dead in bed at her home, on the Grubbs farm, near Sewickley, yesterday morning.

Mrs. W. C. Turton, aged 40, colored, died suddenly at her home, in Homestead park, about 7 o'clock last night.

The body of an infant was found in the rear of 3206 Second avenue Saturday afternoon. A post-mortem showed that it had died at birth.

COUNCILMEN WERE WISE IF CONSTABLES WERE NOT

Constable John Shaffer of East McKeesport, and Constable Thomas Patton of North Versailles township, made a raid on an alleged sneakeasy yesterday afternoon and rounded up 10 prisoners, all of whom were taken to the McKeesport police station. Several, including the proprietor of the place, escaped. The place raided had been running so openly that the borough council directed the constables to make arrests.

Fireman Fell from a Wall.

John Augustine, aged 52, a fireman of the Grandview engine company, fell from a stone wall in the rear of the engine house yesterday afternoon and sustained a compound fracture of the right leg. He was taken to Mercy hospital, where the limb was set, and later to his home, at 1403 Grandview avenue.

INDIAN MAIDENS COME TO GRIEF IN ALLEGHENY

Two Handsome Graduates of Carlisle School Arrested by Detective Johnson While Planning a Trip to the St. Louis Fair.

Dressed in the very latest fashion and with the expression rather of indignation than penitence upon their bronzed features, two handsome Indian girls were taken from a room in Montgomery avenue, Allegheny, yesterday, by Detective Johnson and placed in charge of the matron at city hall. Later in the day they were taken in charge by Indian Commissioner J. A. Allen, who took them last night to Chicago, from where they will be sent to their homes.

The girls are Mary Savage, one of the Apache tribe, whose parents live near Seattle, Wash., and Winona Woodruff, a Crowfoot, whose tribe is on a reservation in Oklahoma. The girls, who were graduated last Tuesday from the Carlisle Indian school, on Wednesday started for their homes. Their failure to arrive in Chicago at the appointed time brought about an investigation by Commissioner Allen, who discovered on Saturday that the girls were in Allegheny. The Savage girl had been corresponding with a brave at Carlisle, and from him the address of the girls was obtained.

The perfidy of this man, and the idea of being deprived, even for a brief time, of their liberty, seemed to arouse the scorn and indignation of the two maidens, who certainly had all the external attributes of the proverbial "sweet girl graduate." They refused absolutely to have any conversation either with Detective Johnson or Matron McCready, and maintained their sullen demeanor until the arrival of Commissioner Allen. Then they gave vent to their feelings, and should their remarks ever come to the ears of the inconstant lover at Carlisle, he will undoubtedly avoid any subsequent meetings or conversations with them.

Miss Savage, who is almost six feet in height, is decidedly handsome. Her features are rather of a modified Roman cast than of a North American Indian mould. Unlike her smaller companion, she has not the prominent cheekbones that usually characterize the Indian face. She wore a tailor-made suit of tan, and a wonderful looking hat, from which hung ample folds of blue crepe. Miss Woodruff wore a suit of black and a black hat, and both carried the handbag so much affected by women. They were supplied with an abundance of money with which they intended having a glorious time, according to what they told Commissioner Allen.

Had the unfaithful buck at Carlisle followed them to Allegheny, as he was requested, rather than remain to disclose their places of hiding, the trio would now have been in St. Louis "doing the Pike." The girls had the money and they wanted to see the fair, and had Cupid not caused the delay that ended so unfortunately, the girls would likely have managed to get over a large part of St. Louis before their guardians located them.

Commissioner Allen said yesterday that the government is responsible for the Carlisle graduates until they reach their homes. For this reason a strict surveillance is maintained on all those leaving the school until they are safely at home.

BOYS WERE NOT AWED BY ORDER NO. 800

Went Over a Fence and Robbed a Disorderly House of a Quantity of Beer.

"Order 800" did not worry five boys who broke into the yard of a disorderly house at 103 Grant street last night and stole a quantity of beer. The youngsters were all under 13 and live in Mt. Washington.

The boys gave their names as John Funton, John Daley, William Hall, John and Thomas Brown when arrested. They had been swimming all day. Toward evening they grew hungry. On the suggestion of one of their number, they decided to steal something to eat. They climbed over the fence at the rear of 103 Grant street and robbed the ice box of eatables and all the beer they could carry away.

The robbery was reported to Policeman Ewart, and he found the boys sitting along the river bank eating and drinking. The police made an investigation last night to ascertain whether beer was being sold in the disorderly house. The beer, it was said, was for the personal use of the inmates, and not for sale to visitors.

CONFLICT OF OPINION BRINGS ABOUT TEST CASE

State Board of Public Instruction to Settle Dispute Between Educators.

Because the Indiana State Normal school authorities have refused to admit four second-year pupils of the Braddock High school to the senior class at the normal institution some unpleasant feeling has been aroused between the educators of the two places. Four girls who successfully passed the junior class examinations at Braddock High school, and three weeks ago passed the entrance examinations at Indiana that qualified them to enter the senior class, have been notified by Dr. D. J. Waller, president of the Indiana faculty, that they cannot enter the school except as juniors.

Prof. Waller's argument is that High school juniors cannot become normal seniors. This is taken exception to by Superintendent Grant Norris and Prof. George H. Lamb of Braddock. It has been decided that a test case on this question shall be made and the state board of public instruction will be appealed to.

It is intimated by the Braddock authorities that the Indiana faculty is evidently trying to increase its attendance by drawing from the High schools pupils who have been there two years. To compel such pupils to take a full normal course they say, is foolishness.

THREE FRIENDS BATTLE; ONE PAINFULLY INJURED

Policemen White and Smith of Allegheny yesterday morning arrested three men who were engaged in a fierce battle in Anderson street. As the police arrived Philip Miller, 828 Vista street, was knocked down and rendered unconscious. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital and after having a scalp wound dressed was taken to Central station. His companions, Alex. Schultz of 874 Carpenter alley and Frank Sloan of 404 East Lacock street, were also locked up.

THREE DROWNED SEEKING RELIEF FROM THE HEAT

Trio of Sunday Bathers Lost Their Lives—Sixteen Boys Arrested for Swimming in the Allegheny River Near Brilliant Station.

Three persons who sought relief from the oppressive heat of yesterday by bathing in the rivers were drowned, while 16 boys escaped death, but were arrested. The dead:

SEBASTIANO DI BEULDITTO, aged 22, single, 22 Twelfth street, Sharpsburg, drowned at Aspinwall.

DEUSTO STIALANO, aged 25, residence unknown, drowned at Boston station.

UNKNOWN COLORED BOY, drowned in the Monongahela river, near Lock No. 1.

Di Beuldito was bathing with a number of friends in the Allegheny, above Aspinwall, about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Not being able to swim, he was guided by his friends, when in a spirit of daring he dove into what proved to be a sand hole and never regained the surface. His body was found shortly after.

Stialano, who was employed on a new county road being graded near Boston, was bathing in the Youghiogheny, near that place, yesterday afternoon, when he suddenly became lost from view. Several hours later his body was recovered.

A colored boy whose name was not learned was drowned near Lock No. 1, in the Monongahela, during the afternoon. His home is said to be in the hill district. The body had not been recovered at a late hour last night.

Acting upon instructions from Inspector Bailey of the East Liberty police station, Officers Corbett and Frank arrested 16 boys yesterday afternoon out of a hundred who were bathing in the Allegheny river near the Brilliant station. The boys were splashing about in unconventional costume, and the officers, keeping guard on their clothes, bided their time until they came ashore. The names given by the boys at the police station were:

William Shark, Joe Meyers, Theodore Albert, Louis Barndel, William Hogadove, Walter Hogadove, Barney McGundel, Louis Kennedy, Frank Opple, George Brown, Ernest Campbell, Allen Morton, Theodore Fitzgerald and Frank Smith.

CROWDS WATCH SHOWMEN.

Ferari Brothers' Carnival Caused Flutter on the South Side When It Arrived.

The South Side was the scene of some excitement yesterday owing to the arrival of the Ferari Bros.' show. It is many years since so large a number of trained wild beasts were unloaded on that side of the river. They are here to fill a two weeks' engagement at the midsummer festival and carnival to be held by the Building Trades council, which opens tonight and closes July 9. The entertainment is a most varied one.

All day long Wabash park at the south end of the Smithfield street bridge, was filled with spectators watching the men unload their animals and equipment. One interesting feature was the manner in which the shows were erected. No tents are used, but portable wooden buildings. As fast as the cars were unloaded buildings were erected which, when put together, looked as though they had been permanently on the grounds.

A large attendance is expected to visit the carnival tomorrow. The management has decided to give 20 per cent of the gross receipts of the main entrance to the Gen. Slocum fund.

PLENTY OF RAFFLES.

Visitor to Orphans' Picnic Can Take Chances on Almost Anything.

In addition to the railroad ticket to the St. Louis fair, the committee in charge of the Orphans' picnic at Calhoun park July 13 and 14, yesterday decided to raffle transportation to Atlantic City. This project was placed in charge of Miss Catherine O'Neil and tickets will be put on sale within the next few days. It has also been practically decided that a diamond ring and an automobile will be chanced off for the benefit of the orphans in St. Paul's asylum.

Father Michael Lynch reported yesterday that the sale of tickets was continuing with unabated success and all indications tend to show that the desired $20,000 will be raised. Two more meetings of the committee will be held before the picnic to complete details.

Father Lynch and General Chairman T. A. Dunn will meet the ladies of the different parishes at Calhoun park in the afternoon of July 4, when locations for the tables and booths will be selected. This will be done in such a manner that the ladies of one parish will gain no idea of the intentions of the other parishes. Father Lynch is now preparing the list of the persons who will manage the different attractions and will announce their names next Saturday.

Some of the Good Things Ready Today

We will double our efforts to get prices down to an irresistible point—as low as any one who practices economy to the letter would ask. Some examples are given this morning.

Imported Granite Linen 18c Yd.
The regular price is 45c.
The width is generous, 28 inches.
This comes in assorted color mixtures, and is an ideal material for Summer skirts for the outing and vacation trip.
It is unquestionably the best linen fabric to withstand hard wear ever imported into this store.
On sale in West Store, main aisle.

High-Class Silk Novelties and Their Reduced Prices.
Silks were never more worn. Once they were apropos for the dressy gown only—today they are equally adaptable for any and every occasion. A coat suit of silk is as stylish as anything one could wear in 90 degree weather, and just as cool. A shirtwaist suit of silk is the most comfortable garment that a woman could don—and yet silk is as much used as ever for evening frocks and elegant afternoon gowns. Note these novelties and their extremely low prices:
27-inch Pongee—natural color grounds with colored dots, but one pattern of each design—75c a yard, regularly $1.25.
Checked and striped Pongees in English suiting designs—54 inches wide, $2.50 a yard, regularly $4.00.
Embroidered Peau de Cygne, in browns and blues, with colored embroidered figures. 68c a yard, regularly $1.00.
36-inch Black Taffeta of Swiss manufacture, 95c a yard, regularly $1.25.
Black Crepe Batiste, 40 inches wide, an elegant silk for dressy gowns. $1.25 a yard, regularly $1.65.

Fine White Cottons Underpriced.
Nothing prettier than the all-white frock for Summer wear. The severely plain shirtwaist suit of pique or linen, if you will, or the elaborate frock of filmy materials, but let it be white, if you would be in the fashion. Where are the false prophets who said white was going out? News of today in the white store—

Monday, June 27, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 8 of this issue.

There are indications that efforts will be made to arrange organized opposition to the introduction of water meters. The public should, however, understand that it is a measure enormously to their advantage. At present the great mass of consumers are paying for the inordinate use of the few. Judging from the experience of other cities, nine out of ten consumers will find a great reduction in their water bills. The work ought to have been begun long ago, and even with all possible diligence now it is not probable that the metering of the service can be accomplished until years after the construction of the filtration plant.

As the Democratic national convention approaches, Mr. Bryan's activity in attacking Democratic candidates increases. In the latest issue of his paper he has leading articles attacking Cleveland and Parker. The Democratic leaders in Illinois who controlled the action of the recent state convention are denounced as "a conscienceless gang of political pirates." The article advises that contesting delegations from both Indiana and Illinois should be sent to the national convention. The Illinois delegates were instructed for Hearst, but neither Hearst nor Bryan control them, and hence the anger of the Lincoln autocrat. Gov. Black told the simple truth in his speech at Chicago when he said that the Democrats had neither arms nor ammunition, and if they had they would use them upon one another.

Although Mr. Perdicaris still insists that Raisuli was the most gentlemanly scoundrel he has ever met, he does not desire to take any risk of being brought into companionship with him again and he has determined to return to America to make his home in a country where brigands, if less gentlemanly, are not so enterprising and do not wield such great influence. This is a good resolution. America should be the country for all Americans who can choose where they may live. Wherever Americans may go the protection of their government is their due and it will always be extended, but citizens who practice voluntary expatriation are not entitled to as much sympathy when they get into trouble as those whom duty takes into disturbed countries. The worldwide extension of American commercial interests will, however, provide a large class of American citizens scattered through foreign countries and our government must be prepared to meet calls for assistance coming with increasing frequency.

The situation in Wisconsin has not improved any since the Republican national convention read the LaFollette faction out of the party. LaFollette is now busy organizing his forces for a contest in every election district, and the machine which he has built up as governor provides him with the means. Since the action of the national convention LaFollette exhibits a vindictive spirit toward the national organization, and he appears to be ready to sacrifice the electoral ticket to gratify his spite. It is claimed that under the state election laws the regular Republican ticket cannot bear the same set of electors as the LaFollette ticket and either another set must be nominated, thus dividing the Republican vote, or else the regular voters must use the LaFollette column and make an individual crossmark after every elector's name. This is one of the numerous complications which the blanket ballot is liable to produce in some emergency. In the old days, when every voter cast his own ballot for his own candidates, no such difficulty could occur.

Gen. Miles' ambition to secure a presidential nomination, which has inspired his actions for many years not always to his credit, is at last to be gratified. He is slated for the nomination of the Prohibitionist party, which at least insures him a place among the also rans. It is quite likely that in agreeing to accept the nomination, Gen. Miles entertains the notion that this will promote his prospects of receiving the Democratic nomination. That prospect is of the slightest possible character, but Gen. Miles has been filled with yearnings in that direction for so long that he is able to erect large hopes on little grounds. If he did but know it no man who could write such a document as his report upon conditions in the Philippines could be elected to any important office among any people who value moral dignity. There is no more striking evidence of deterioration of character under the influence of vain ambition than that a gallant military officer who had earned in his proper sphere the respect and admiration of his countrymen, should have been brought so low as to append his name to such a mass of silly calumny. When history deals with this phase of his career the most charitable office it can render him is to excuse it on the ground of political paralysis of his moral instincts.

Mr. Bryan's Defense.

In the latest issue of his paper Mr. Bryan devotes the leading article to a reply to The Gazette's comments upon the Nebraska platform. In its comments The Gazette called attention to the autocratic attitude assumed by Mr. Bryan, his contemptuous disregard of public sentiment and his pertinacious endeavor to thrust upon the people issues to which they have shown their opposition in every way open to them. In reply Mr. Bryan asks: "Did the Republicans drop the tariff when they were defeated in 1890 and in 1892? Did the goldbugs stop working for the gold standard when all parties declared for bimetallism in 1892?" It is absurd to say that in either case there had been a decisive adjudication as in the case of free silver. The Republican defeats mentioned were expressions of popular dissatisfaction with general results, and could not be construed as a rejection of the policy of protection. There was a transient popular impulse to try Democratic reform and nothing more. The use the Democrats made of their opportunity showed that they themselves felt that the country did not really desire a tariff for revenue only. As regards free silver, while it is true that both parties pandered for years to the silver mining interests, the fact is notorious that popular sentiment was outrageously misrepresented by the compromises fixed up in congress. Under the system of senatorial representation the silver camps were given a weight in legislation immensely in excess of their real weight as an ingredient of public opinion. Time and again analysis of votes showed that the free silver majorities in congress represented a marked minority of the people. As soon as political developments forced the submission of the issue to the people they decided it in favor of the gold standard with tremendous emphasis.

If the vote of the people can decide anything the people regard the silver issue as a dead one, and view with indignation attempts to drag it from the grave and force it again upon their disgusted contemplation. It is well known that at the last Democratic national convention it required extreme effort by Mr. Bryan to secure another presentation of the silver issue and it obtained a place in the platform by the narrowest possible majority. Ever since the election of 1896 revealed the true sentiment of the people on the monetary standard, Mr. Bryan has stood in obstinate opposition to the plain wishes and inclinations of the people, and he has taken every possible advantage of his position to stifle and subdue the deep antagonism of his own party to his silver nostrum. That he is well aware that public sentiment is against him he has shown upon numerous occasions, a conclusive proof of this being his endeavor to reconcile his followers to continuous defeat and to emulate the constancy of the Christian martyrs. The point we made is that such principles and ideas have no place in American politics. Ours is not a theocracy, ruled by direct mandate from on high, but is a government of the people, and their deliberate decisions are entitled to respect. Bryan arrogates to himself an office which might be constitutionally correct were he the czar of Russia, but in a government of the people there is no place for a system of autocratic rule. No such aspirations towards political despotism as he entertains have ever been promulgated in this country before. We must go back to the Jacobite period in England and the proclamations of King James in exile to find any parallel to his assumptions of indefeasible authority. Whatever else the Democratic party may do at St. Louis, we do not doubt but that it will rebuke Mr. Bryan's pretensions of party ownership.

King Edward's Visit.

King Edward has arrived at Kiel and was received with kisses by his imperial nephew of Germany, after the affectionate style of spectacular royal meetings. The speeches made upon the occasion were pacific in tone and will tend to abate the uneasiness caused by the rather alarmist speeches which the kaiser has been making since his return from his Mediterranean trip. The presence of King Edward in Germany is of itself a reassuring circumstance, for the fact is well recognized throughout Europe that British diplomacy is now the great safeguard of European peace. It is strange, but no less true, that British influence has been singularly exalted through the treaty with Japan. Since that alliance British influence has become the master force in European affairs. The cordial relations brought about between France, Italy and Spain are direct fruits of its activity. Indirectly the defeats which Russia is experiencing advance British prestige. The colossus of the north has been shown to stand upon clay feet and the continental nations no longer feel that overpowering dread of Russia which has long affected their policy. By comparison the strength and resources of the British empire appear greater than ever.

King Edward's visits to other nations have had such important diplomatic consequences that speculation is busy in the forecast of results of the present visit to Germany. In Germany itself the immediate result is a lively dicussion of the prospects of friendly relations between Russia and England and the possible effect upon German interests. It is known that negotiations are on foot looking toward an Anglo-Russian understanding. The present isolation of Germany is such that any international movement excites anxiety. Moreover, alarm over what the kaiser once termed "the yellow peril" is keener in Germany than anywhere else. The caution and moderation of Japanese diplomacy have dissipated any real alarm as regards the use which Japan will make of her power, but it is undeniable that the situation has altered greatly to the disadvantage of Germany's position in the east. The day for appropriations of Chinese territory are over, and as Germany contemplates the fate of Russia, it is natural for her to feel uneasy as regards her own share of the spoils. The far eastern question has assumed an entirely new phase and European diplomacy is getting ready to deal with it. It is not likely that anything more than tentative measures are now in contemplation, but royal visits at the present period have a great deal more in them than exchanges of courtesies and manifestations of affection. A possible outcome of the new situation created by the rise of Japan to the rank of a great power is that European energies of expansion may turn in the direction of South America, about the only open field now left. The United States and the Monroe doctrine stand in the way; and the real strength of that obstruction is now likely to be constantly subject to study, with a view to seizing a favorable occasion of testing it.

The Port Arthur Fleet Crushed.

The latest naval engagement off Port Arthur in some general features recalls the battle of Santiago. In both cases the engagement was brought on by a dash from a port which was being attacked by land. In both cases it was shown that attempts made to close the harbor exit had been unsuccessful. This want of success was particularly significant at Port Arthur, as the Japanese had made repeated efforts, elaborately planned and carried out upon an extensive scale, to seal the harbor mouth. Their failure will be accepted as proof that no dependence can be placed upon such operations. Either the Russians were able to remove the obstructions or were able to evade them. There is as yet no evidence that the costly efforts at obstruction made by the Japanese had any effect upon the course of events. The conclusion will be drawn that the only real reliance of a blockading fleet is upon a cordon or scout boats, such as the Japanese drew around Port Arthur. This precaution proved effectual and enabled the Japanese to strike the last crushing blow at Russian naval power in the Yellow sea.

The parallel with Santiago applies only to the initial phase of the engagement. The Spanish admiral carried out his desperate plan with energy and decision. The Russians acted as if they did not know what they intended to do. After getting out of the harbor during the day they halted for the night. It was a suicidal act, for it gave the Japanese an opportunity to repeat the night attack which inflicted the first blow upon the Russians. The teachings of experience appear to be wasted upon the Russian naval commanders at Port Arthur. The result was just what they should have anticipated. The Japanese torpedo squadron took prompt advantage of the opportunity thus idiotically presented. During the night the Russian fleet was attacked, the battleship Peresviet was sunk, and another battleship and one cruiser were disabled. As soon as the morning dawned sufficiently to enable the Russians to see their way, what was left of their fleet made its way back into the harbor again. Their sally will take rank as the most stupid performance in the annals of naval warfare. They accomplished nothing but to put themselves in a position where they could be attacked with effect by the Japanese fleet. The engagement puts an ignominious end to the Port Arthur fleet as a factor in the present war.

It is a curious circumstance that the Vladivostok squadron, from which nothing was expected, has inflicted considerable damage upon the Japanese, while the powerful Port Arthur fleet has accomplished nothing but disaster for itself. The failure of the Japanese squadron charged with the duty of looking after the Vladivostok squadron is probably due to a chapter of accidents. The Russian vessels have been screened by dense fog at critical periods, but at the same time their commanders must be credited with energy and dash quite lacking at Port Arthur, and the Japanese admiral in that quarter seems to have been somewhat deficient in enterprise, for he should have been at least able to cut off the retreat of the Russian cruisers to their harbor after they had ventured out. The effectiveness of Vladivostok as a naval base will doubtless cause the Japanese to insist upon acquiring possession of it in the final settlement with Russia.

It has just occurred to us that those fellows who tried to bribe Premier Combes must have been under the impression that he was one of the pocket variety.

That Hoosier correspondent says the Russians were giving balls while he was in Port Arthur. The Japanese didn't seem to get any of 'em.

With Generals Bell and Corbin on hand, America, too, can show "Little Bobs" some real fighting stuff when he comes over here.

The flood of degrees now pouring in on William Dean Howells confirms his title as America's foremost man of letters.

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—One of the methods adopted by college men to make money in the summer is to become "Barkers" at Coney Island and other resorts. Every one visiting Coney this summer is impressed by the improvement in the style of young men who lecture to the passing crowds upon the wonders to be seen in the various places of amusement along Surf avenue. Gentlemanly in dress, demeanor and speech, they talk as volubly as did the old-fashioned "puller-in," but in much better terms. Their language is well chosen, and their tones those of men who have studied the art of making their voices carry by scientific means. The loud-mouthed and loudly-dressed "door talker" has no chance with these well groomed young fellows, most of them in blue serge suits and natty straw hats. The new men are able to describe their attractions in terms which indicate a thorough understanding of the subject, and if you listen to one of them for half an hour you will find that there is great variety in his speech, and that he seldom repeats himself. The employment of gentlemen to draw crowds into the shows is part of the general scheme of improvement to be noted all over Coney Island. The standard has been raised to a large extent, and it was only natural that a better class of "barkers" should be employed to match the air of respectability which pervades the whole place nowadays. It has been common for college men to act as waiters, car conductors and book agents, but the idea of their becoming "barkers" is a new one. It is a congenial task, for the college man usually has good lungs, which he has developed on the football field and baseball grounds in his alma mater yell many a time. As an overlay, it is found that he is a useful persuader of hesitating patrons, few of whom can resist his genial manner of instructing them as to the merits of the entertainment which is "invisible above, as it rests a ticket."

Jolly Old Dowie Is Here.

It was the jolly and tubby old Dowie, the Elijah III. of the Gardens of Carnegie hall this morning. His modest yell and his power of invective was as well developed as ever. In view of the fact that he would not talk to press representatives on the Lucania when he arrived yesterday, his freedom of speech on the platform was all the more noticeable. It does not look as if Mr. Dowie has any hope of converting New York this time, but he will give it some of his peppery doctrine whenever he can find people to listen to him, and no one can doubt that he knows it. He is as much of a joke here now as he was before he went to Europe and Australia.

Evangelism Is Rampant.

Besides Dowie, New York has another evangelist who is as positive in his statements as the man from Zion City. He goes further than Dowie, too, for he says that judgment day is at hand, and he thinks it may come before most people here have any idea of the catastrophe. The name of this evangelist is the Rev. John Robertson, who is preaching every night in a gospel tent at Broadway and Fifty-seventh street. He takes up a collection early in the proceedings, so that he shall not be swept into eternity "broke," but after that important bit of business his talk is all of a spiritual nature, and is undeniably powerful in tone. He is a better speaker than Dowie, and he does not abuse his listeners personally, although he tells them that the end of the world may come at any moment, and that it would be well to be prepared for it. But, after all, is not that a Bible prediction that is accepted everywhere by Christians?

Clement Scott Had Many Friends.

General regret is felt here over the death of Clement Scott, the London dramatic critic. Mr. Scott was a critic in New York a few years ago for a season, and was a noticeable figure in the theaters on account of his original style of dress and the way he wore his hair. He was exceedingly popular in this city, and was a guest at most of the exclusive clubs and in many wealthy families. To Americans in general he is best known as author of the words of the song, "O, Promise Me," to which Reginald DeKoven put such charming music.

Comfort With Piety.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, pastor of St. Luke's Methodist church, Newark, is following the example of his brother clergyman in Jersey City who preached last Sunday in light summer attire, and invited his congregation to do likewise. Many of the men wore shirtwaists, without coats, and the ladies appeared without hats. The same rule was followed at Dr. Wilson's church today. He said: "A preacher cannot expect to impress his audience much with spiritual truths when the persons in it are suffering bodily discomfort." That is the nub of the argument. No doubt it will be recognized by many other ministers all over the country.

Dangerous Task at an End.

The work of handling the bodies from the General Slocum became very dangerous in the last few days. They are nearly all disposed of now, but not without imperiling the life of one of the coroners and causing a strike among the laborers. The coroner referred to may lose his arm, if not his life, from blood-poisoning, and the laborers, in spite of their wearing rubber gloves, are afraid to keep on at the work. It is fortunate that the task is nearly finished, for in the hot weather it would be a dreadful one indeed.

A Hurrah at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay never was more excited since the Indians left it, two centuries or so ago. The news of President Roosevelt's nomination reached there promptly, and the bottled-up enthusiasm burst forth in a perfect tempest of excitement. Mrs. Roosevelt, who got home on Friday night, was received with a demonstration that would have overcome any less placid nature than hers. As it was, she smiled with pleasure, and waved her hands joyously to the crowds as she was driven rapidly to Sagamore Hill. The president is expected home on Saturday, and then the whole town will tear itself loose with a vengeance.

Music Makes Privileges.

"Walk on the grass," says Pallas, the park commissioner, "but only while the music plays." The band plays in Central park on Saturday and Sunday, and the commissioner has noticed that many persons cannot get near to the band stand without treading upon the grass. What is a little grass compared to the pleasure of the populace? Those are Pallas' sentiments, and all honor to him for them.

Mourning Weeds Grow Rank.

Many houses are draped with black on the East Side for the General Slocum victims. The emblems of sorrow will remain for a considerable time, for no one has the heart to remove them. In the churches all over that district, including St. Mark's, whence went forth that excursion which ended so tragically, memorial services were held this morning. That is a sad duty which will be repeated again and again for weeks to come. Grief in general is as poignant as it was a week ago.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

What do you know about a mule?

The chances are that you don't really know one "formed hate" about that useful adjunct to the original outfit.

No doubt you think you know a whole lot, but when brought down to fine points about all you could feel certain about is that the mule is a great kicker.

Were you ever kicked by a mule?

Ever see anybody kicked by one?

Ever know anybody that was, or that ever knew anyone that had been ingloriously kicked by a mule?

Unless you can hold up your hand and affirm to one or more of these you have no right to say aught against the mule. Even if it wasn't in the ark among the good animals its forebears were. Nor does it threaten the earth with a posterity marked by a strong tendency toward degeneracy, which same cannot be said of some of the ark-saved specimens.

The mule is the most playful of all the larger animals, and because it can play with its hind legs and feet some people hasten to the conclusion that it is a kicker. You might just as well conclude that a cat's tail is dangerous because it plays with it.

* * * * *

The mule has its friends, don't forget, and it will yet be vindicated. Indeed, it can vindicate itself, and it will do so in the future, as it has done in the past.

True the mule is not a thing of beauty exactly, but there are those who are willing to testify that it is something of a joy, more or less, according to circumstances.

In point of beauty, however, it beats the much lauded camel out of sight, and puts the laugh on the elephant every time. And as a war engine it beats the whole caboodle. Without it war could hardly be conducted successfully, for it moves with great celerity, carrying provisions, mountain howitzers, screw-guns and ammunition, besides being the only animal that can carry wounded men with any degree of comfort and safety.

If you have never been borne on the back of a mule you can hardly be made to understand what a smooth-sailing affair it is. Never a jolt nor a jog, and none of the sickishness, very like unto sea-sickness, that one gets when riding on a camel or an elephant.

And as compared with a horse it is as a cushioned rocking-chair to a four-legged stool.

* * * * *

What the mule will get what is coming to it none need doubt, for patience, persistence and hopefulness never fail to be duly rewarded.

If you will stop a moment and do a little figuring, you will discover that there is a great deal more coming to the plodding mule than to the dashing race horse. Although you may never have won any money on a mule, you can't say you ever lost any, which is something to the mule's credit.

But you have to know a mule quite well before you can properly appreciate it, just the same as you have to know people well before being able to appreciate them according to their real worth.

Right here is where the greater failures in life begin. Instead of taking people at their real value they are accepted at apparent values. Good lookers often bring fancier prices than good doers, but they are not as sure dividend payers.

It is the true worth of the thing that we should consider rather than its mere looks, for it is true value that endures and not mere appearances.

* * * * *

The coming of the mule into its reward in due time is foreshadowed in a tribute paid to his mule by Uncle Jake Heatherington, late of Bellaire, as recorded in the Independent of that city, as follows:

In the days when electric machinery was not, a mule was the immediate necessity of a miner. Uncle Jacob's mule was named Jack, and a famous mule he was, so famous that unlike most mules "though dead he yet speaketh."

"There was considerable bickering about the price I was to pay," said the old gentleman, "but I saw he was the kind of a mule I wanted, and so I gave a mare and $30 to boot for him. And he was a good one. One of the medium size, not a little burro, nor a big jack—just between the two. And say, brother, those are the kind of people we want; not wee little ones, or big educated ones. The kind that pull are the medium sized ones. Well, Jack had more sense than half the people I know. He had as much sense as I had, I'm sure. He helped me earn every cent I've got, and then he died, because I was too good to him. He was playful; I could get under his fore legs and he would stand up straight. But, better still, I liked him because he was so devilish. He would bite and kick with vim."

It is a long stretch between the hovel on the river bank, where "root hog, or die" was the motto, according to Uncle Jacob, and the palatial home that, standing high, is one of the finest in Belmont county. This home is known in the history of the county as "The house that Jack built," and today one may see the head of a mule carved over the front door.

"When I built my house," said Uncle Jacob, "I had carved, as you can see over the door, the head of a mule. Upon its completion I led him through all the downstair rooms, and told him just what he had done. I would have taken him upstairs, but I was afraid the steps would break. He died at the ripe old age of 40 years and now lays down there in the bottom, on the other side of the road, where I gave him a decent burial."

* * * * *

Anybody that knew Uncle Jake Heatherington knows he was no fool, nor a silly sentimentalist. He knew a good thing when he saw it, and was quick to see and to appreciate good, whether in men or in brutes.

Is it any wonder he was successful in life? His early hardships were accepted as hardships should be. Instead of fuming and fussing about them he kept right on digging coal, selling at ruling prices, and giving good measure every time. He dug, Jack dragged out, and the boys shoveled, and success came.

When the day's work was done they all went home together feeling that they had done what they could. More than this is required of no one. And instead of sitting around grumbling and complaining they spent their evenings practicing on musical instruments, so that in time the Heatherington band made its appearance, and it was one of the very best; and it was all Heatherington, too, for there were quite a bunch of them.

While the coal bank took up most of their time they still found time for school, for church, for music, and for good fellowship; nor did they forget old Jack, even if he was only a mule.

Bro. Clark's Paper

THE STROLLER.

No breezier paper comes to our exchange table than the Mountain Advocate published by Brother D. Will Clark down in Barbourville, Kentucky. The Advocate is comparatively a new venture on the journalistic sea, the copy we have at hand being only No. 19, Vol. 1., but that it has great promise of success and a wide field of usefulness is apparent from its announcement that not only is it the only newspaper published in Knox county but also it is the official torchbearer of the Republican party. Moreover, in these times when the sordid spirit of self-seeking is so pervasive it refreshes us to see the Advocate fling to the breeze conspicuously under its title line this generous "motto:"

Live For Our Friends—Do the Greatest Amount of Good We Can To the Largest Number of People.

That such a stand is no mere truckling to popularity, and that Bro. Clark maintains his manly independence despite any favors which may accrue to him by reason of the official honors thrust upon him, is evident from the following announcement to candidates which he carries at the top of his editorial column:

A WORD TO CANDIDATES.

We will insert your name and the office to which you aspire, in the proper place in this paper, and carry the same continuously until the party nominees are chosen, for the various offices as follows:

For Congressional Honors	$20 00
For Judicial District Honors	15 00
For Legislative District Honors	10 00
For County Offices Each	5 00
For Magisterial District	2 50

Cash in all cases must accompany the order to insure insertion.

◇ ◇ ◇

Judging from the results which this notice has produced, Bro. Clark's method may well be commended to other newspapers. There is nothing like a little discrimination in handling a matter of this kind. Why discourage prospective officeholders from advertising, by adhering to a uniform rate which makes no allowance either for the relative cost of one's campaign or for the honors and emoluments which, if one is successful, are to follow? Better to gain a candidate's good will and such cash as he may be able to spare, than by prohibitive rates practically to deny him the support of the press, and an official press at that. Running our eye down the list of cards which Bro. Clark's timely offer has secured, we notice one congressional candidate, five judicial, 17 county and two magisterial which, at the prices quoted, ought to be worth $180. This, for a little more than a column of Advocate space we consider a pretty good showing although we cannot but feel that Bro. Clark, with his exclusive medium of circulation in Knox county would have been warranted to add, say, at least 10 per cent bonus in the cases of successful candidates. However, a little leeway, perhaps, should be allowed him to demonstrate that the motto which he employs is not merely sounding brass.

◇ ◇ ◇

Among those whose cards appear in the Advocate's columns is the Rev. T. J. Martin, of Corbin, who announces himself as a candidate for county assessor. The reverend gentleman's political soundness appears to have been severely questioned by the Corbin Laborer. Whether the sheet is published within the confines of Knox county, and whether its quality is such as not seriously to interfere with Bro. Clark's statement that the Advocate is the only "newspaper" printed in that county, we possess no information which enables us to determine. One thing, however, is certain: Bro. Clark in his leading editorial effectually sets at rest the aspersions which the Laborer has cast upon Rev. Mr. Martin's political character, and knocks the stuffing out of its rival's pretensions to wisdom, if Bro. Clark will pardon us the use of this somewhat vulgar phrase. The editorial is so lucid, and so masterful in its logic that we cannot forbear printing it here in full:

"The Corbin Laborer last week seemed to think that the Advocate had been misinformed as regards the politics of Bro. Martin, who had announced himself by card for the office of assessor, subject to the "choice of the people," and after having double coniniption fits, admits that it 'knows nothing about Mr. Martin's politics.'

"Now we stated clearly last week our views on this particular subject, and it is not our aim to further criticise Mr. Martin as he has accepted our terms and announced in the Advocate, subject to the Republican primary. But after the fuss and feathers raised by the Laborer criticising us for defending the grand old Republican party against any one who would attempt to seek the nomination of the party and at the same time denounce the party. This same paper in the same article makes this broad statement:

"'We know nothing about Mr. Martin's politics.'

"Now that is exactly the point we raised. If Mr. Martin was a Republican we wanted him to say so.

"This he has done now, and here comes his own town paper published in the town where he lives and publicly says 'We know nothing about Mr. Martin's politics.'

"Now whether a man is a minister, doctor, lawyer, merchant, farmer or what not, if he expects to win in a primary election he must let his constituents know what his politics is, and therefore for the benefit of the Laborer which admits that it 'knows nothing about Mr. Martin's politics.' We will state that he is a Republican, and has authorized the Advocate to officially make this announcement for him."

◇ ◇ ◇

That the citizens of Barbourville take a keen interest in the political situation is evident from the fact that Mr. R. W. Cole, one of the city's leading merchants, attended the Chicago convention. The distractions of the Windy City, however, did not make him unmindful of the folks at home, as witness the following telegram which Bro. Clark received from him:

Dear Mountain Advocate:

Just tell my customers and all your readers that I am having too good a time this week at the national convention to write an ad or quote prices but if they will call on Mr. Amis at my store. They can secure just as good bargains as if I was superintending the whole thing myself. Next week I will quote Chicago prices to my Customers.

One explanation of the Advocate's evident popularity in its home county may doubtless be found in its list of correspondents who constitute an unusually large and able staff. Out of the recent batch of news sent in from Flat Lick by "Mark" we cull the following interesting personal:

"W. A. Yeager has been very busy for the past two weeks in the lumber business, and yet it is rumored by the girls that he is considerably behind with his courting."

◇ ◇ ◇

"White Rose," whose dainty, feminine hand evidently attends to the Advocate's interests at Ola, sends in these items:

"Owing to the wet weather people stuck in the weeds and the farmers are quite backward.

"Prof. Crawford passed through here Friday with his saw mill.

"The beautiful summer has ushered in the glorious month of June and is an enjoyment to all intelligent people.

◇ ◇ ◇

The correspondent at King modestly refrains from signing a pen name but he sends in a good batch of stuff nevertheless, closing with the following apology:

"We have all been so busy for the last week that we had no occasion to talk politics, so we will ask to be excused from the topic until we may ascertain the latest developments."

We don't know what the character of the people of Mills may be but it is a pleasure to note that toward sacred matters, at least, they observe becoming reverence, as witness this item sent by "Hayseed No. 2:"

"John L. Spurlock of Moore's creek, visited our church. There were several people out, and all behaved themselves well."

"Jumbo" is the nom de plume facetiously adopted by the correspondent at Jarvis Store, but that there is nothing elephantine about his wit is sufficiently attested by this little "personal:"

"Lloyd Dozier was out Sunday looking for him a girl. Can any one tell him where he can find one?"

We regret that space does not permit us to set forth more of the good things displayed in this week's issue of the Advocate. The fresh, cool greenness of its columns make it a delightful companion on a warm summer day.

MAKES DEMAND ON CITY COUNCILS

Larkin Asks Action Be Rescinded on Election of New Depositories.

IS READY TO GO TO COURT

Controller Larkin serves notice on councils that unless they undo their work and elect city depositories in what the controller believes to be the legal manner, he will take the matter to court to pass upon their action. In a formal statement yesterday the controller claimed that the adoption of the resolution appointing the new depositories and the approval of the agreements with the depositories were illegal.

He said that George W. Guthrie had agreed to act as his attorney and would make no charge for the services. The bank agreements have been approved by common council but are yet to be approved by select council, which meets on Wednesday. The controller makes his statement in time for select council to rescind its former action, which it is not likely to do.

The controller declares that it is the duty of councils to place the funds of the city in the banks which will give the highest rate of interest and says the city should get 3 per cent instead of 2 per cent. His statement is as follows:

I have not seen the contracts or agreements made between the finance committee and the banks relative to city deposits, nor were they read either to the finance committee or to councils. The city treasurer is the legal custodian of all moneys, made so by the act of 1901, which says that he shall receive the proceeds of all loans and shall demand and receive from the proper officers all moneys payable to the city from whatever source, excepting delinquent taxes and water rents, and that all the moneys of the city received by any officer or agent thereof, except those received by the collector of delinquent taxes, shall be deposited daily in the city treasury.

The act then says that no money shall be drawn from the city treasury except by due process of law or upon warrants signed by the mayor and countersigned by the city controller. The act also says that the treasurer shall make daily deposits of all moneys received by him in such banks or institutions as may be designated by councils, and shall make specific reports to the controller of all receipts and deposits, and of all moneys transferred from the treasury.

Councils have not designated the depositories and cannot, unless by due process of law, withdraw money from the treasury for any purpose, nor can they delegate to a committee the power to make legal that which is illegal. A mere perfunctory resolution about an immaterial matter would not, possibly should not be questioned, but this resolution relates to the withdrawal of money out of the city treasury, and must be passed by due process of law, or the process to which any legislative act is subjected.

Even if legal, it is a great shame to take from the people that for which they can readily get 6 per cent to have it loaned to favored banks at 2 per cent. The discrimination against nine-tenths of the reputable banks of the city, which have been absolutely shut out from competing for the use of this money, is no less shameless. This money should never be taken from the people until it is needed; and if it must be taken from them to be loaned out, it should be offered in open market to all banks at the highest rate conservative bankers will give.

The agreements of contracts based on that resolution have no value, nor have existing contracts, and if there is one ounce of public spirit amongst the people or those interested, I will take the matter up at the proper time and fight it out. Mr. Guthrie has agreed, as usual, to make no charge for his services, and councils must either proceed to undo what they have done, and do it legally, or have their action passed upon by court.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED.

At the Union Services $1,800 Was Raised to Lighten the Debt.

The dedication of the Herron Hill Christian church in Webster avenue, near Thirty-third street, took place yesterday, with ceremonies morning, afternoon and evening. The church is the offspring of the Central Christian church, at Colwell and Pride streets, of which the Rev. C. L. Thurgood is pastor.

Services were held in the old church in Colwell street in the morning, and the Rev. G. L. Snively of St. Louis, national secretary of the Benevolent Association of the Christian churches, preached. At 3 p. m. a union service was held in the new building, the following ministers being on the platform: The Rev. W. H. McKiveen of the Wylie Avenue Baptist church, the Rev. O. H. Phillips of the Braddock Christian church, the Rev. F. M. Gordon of the Knoxville Christian church, the Rev. William Place of the Bellevue Christian church and Mrs. J. M. Russell, secretary of the Christian Women's Board of Missions of Pennsylvania and Miss Elsie Taylor, the organizer.

The dedication services followed the union services and were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Snively. In a very short time $1,800 was raised among the congregation toward the $5,500 indebtedness of the new church. In the evening the sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Snively.

The building is a little one-story frame, erected at a cost of $4,100. The Rev. J. D. Dabney, who came from Barry, Ill., is pastor.

BROOKLYN TEACHER MARRIES A DOWIEITE

NEW YORK, June 26.—(Special.)—A wedding which attracted a great deal of attention in colored society was that of Miss Tomlsena Wilder Williamson and Mr. E. Highland Wilson, at the residence of the bride in Brooklyn.

During "Prophet Elijah" Dowie's stay in New York, Mr. Wilson, who was a clerk in the New York postoffice, a position he had held for several years, resigned and went to Zion City and became not only a Zionite but the organist of the Zion choir. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will now both be Zionites and will make their residence in Dowie's city. Mrs. Wilson was a teacher in the public schools of Brooklyn.

BIGELOW CHANGES PLAN FOR OAKLAND BRIDGE

Structure Is to Be Smaller and Less Expensive Than First.

City engineers are revising plans for the Wilmot street bridge, for which councils authorized an expenditure of $158,000. The bridge will be from Wilmot street, Fourteenth ward, to Schenley park. The old plans provided for a structure 40 feet wide and the former estimate of cost was $160,000.

To meet the appropriation by councils it has been decided to reduce the width to 30 feet and to make it lighter in weight and less ornamental than at first planned. There will probably be an 8-foot sidewalk on each side and a roadway of 14 feet. The bridge will shorten the distance to Schenley park at least a mile for the residents of the southwest end of the ward.

There is a deep gully between Wilmot street and the park which it will cross, making the structure at least 128 feet above the ground and 450 feet long. The eastern end will be in the rear of the bandstand in the park. The residents of the Fourteenth ward have been making anxious inquiries about the bridge but Director Bigelow has given assurance that he will obey the ordinance and let the contract at an early date.

Since the advent of the nice weather real estate in the Marvel New City of

Economy

Has been selling at a rate never paralleled except on big public sales day

News that the American Bridge Company has closed for its gigantic Ambridge and Economy plants, contracts which will involve enormous expenditures has excited the greatest interest on the part of investors. One gentleman in the Bridge Company's handsome new Ambridge office building, where 800 draughtsmen are employed, said that he believed that the immense industry would in a few weeks commence the construction of work that would make it necessary to call another 1,000 men to employment. One of the large new contracts is for the construction of the South Side terminals of the Wabash Railroad. This work will be started within the next six to nine weeks.

THINK OF THE MONEY THAT WILL BE MADE:

Ponder what that means! It foretells that every foot of real estate in the wonderful tract adjoining the great bridge plants will take such a spurt in value as will give wide-awake persons, who pick the right locations, an opportunity to make thousands and thousands of dollars on quick turns or to hold their purchases for future developments, which will give them an increase equal to three times the present market prices.

You may feel that this is an extravagant statement. But it is not more than what happened six months after the first piece of Ambridge property was put on the market. Look up the re-sales of Ambridge property that were made all through last winter. These will be convincing. We could not say anything in an advertisement that would be more convincing.

MORE THAN THE BRIDGE WORKS WILL BE ESTABLISHED:

We have forgotten to name another important industrial factor which will contribute to the upbuilding of the future great smokeless industrial metropolis. The American Bridge Works is of such tremendous magnitude that we sometimes lose sight of the fact that it is not the only enterprise which will contribute to the prosperity of these rising twin cities of the Ohio. On the other side of Economy, back of the Old Village and within a few squares of the Orchard Plan, is the plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Construction Company.

This company has one immense steel structure up in which it has some 300 men employed. It will soon beg in the erection of two more structures of the same size and when operating to full capacity will have in all a thousand men employed. Other manufacturers are being negotiated with to take up sites in the vicinity of this large plant.

That means that on either side of the Orchard Plan, which is the main or central section of the entire tract, there will be a long stretch of manufacturing plants—the American Bridge Works, with its 7,000 to 10,000 workmen on the Ambridge side, and the Pittsburgh Steel Construction Works and a diversity of small and large industries on the Old Village side.

THE SPOT THE SHREWD ONES WILL SELECT:

Many investors are buying at present in the Old Village. Some good sales are being made in Ambridge, which is practically all sold except a few "remnants."

But when the extensive plans for street improvements are carried out in the Orchard Plan that section will go like hot cakes. It is where great developments will take place. It is where the chief market center for at least 40,000 people will be. There could not be less than 40,000 people where such an army of wage-earners are to be employed.

The monthly freight bills of the American Bridge Works even now exceed $30,000. They will reach $100,000 soon. This will make Economy City the most important freight distributing point between Pittsburgh and Ft. Wayne. A quarter of a million dollars will then be paid out in wages every two weeks by one industry alone. Ultimately this industry will expend twice that sum in wages.

THE INQUIRIES BY MAIL:

Anyone can see what the Orchard Plan will soon be. Ambridge and the Old Village are great for investment, but think of what real estate in the center of the vast tract will bring after awhile.

We are getting many inquiries by mail. We have sent maps and detailed information to quite a number of investors, and they have indicated on the map what lots they desired and enclosed first payment. You can do this and then come to look at the property at your convenience. All of the lots in the Orchard Plan are level as a floor. Not one is more level than another. You take no risk in making a selection from the map.

The sites on Merchant Street, the principal thoroughfare, which will be paved and improved its entire length, are nearly all sold. But there are some choice ones still left, and some of these adjoin the site that was purchased for a fine $50,000 hotel.

Write for information and latest record of transactions. Or, better still, come see where the developments will be.

PASTOR CHARLES T. RUSSELL EXPLAINS FAITH DELUSIONS HELD BY MANY

How Modern Christians Have Wandered Away from the True Simplicity.

ERRORS OF SPIRITUALISTS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Pastor C. T. Russell of Allegheny, Pa., addressed large audiences twice here today. His afternoon topic was, "God's Oathbound Covenant With Abraham and What Its Fulfillment Will Mean to All Nations." The evening discourse was from the text, "For this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie; that they all might be damned who believed not the Truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness."—2 Thess. 2:xi-xii. In full it was as follows:

The scriptures everywhere emphasize the truth—the divine revelation, in its purity and simplicity, is the power of God by which he is, at the present time, appealing to those who have an ear to hear and the desire of heart for righteousness. But to suppose, as most people would be inclined to interpret, that by our text the apostle meant to say that all who do not receive the truth in its simplicity and purity, and who consequently be damned to an eternity of torture, would be to greatly misunderstand the apostle's meaning and the entire spirit of the gospel. Such an understanding of our text would not only imply the torture of the millions who have no knowledge of the divine truth, but would include also the great majority of Christians, people whose perceptions of truth are surely rather dimmed and largely mixed with errors and traditions of men, inherited from the dark ages. Even among Protestant Christians there are errors and confusion as respects the truth—"the faith once delivered to the saints."

Our Presbyterian friends have one view of the truth, recognizing an election according to divine favor although not according to the truth. Our Methodist friends hold a different view and deny all election, holding that, as God is no respecter of persons, the Presbyterian Confession of Faith is in error. The Roman Catholics declare that, election or no election, God's only provision for salvation is through their church and its apostolic succession of authority. Episcopalian friends agree with much that the Methodists say on this subject, but hold that the Romanists have departed from the purity of the faith, and that the Episcopalians have the only pure and proper line of succession and authority; and, therefore, the only proper church of the Lord, membership in which is essential to salvation. Our friends of the Disciple denomination call out that all are deceived in every error, that the proper thing is "baptism for the remission of sins," and that unless they have been immersed in water and an immersion in water their views of election, free grace, church relationship and apostolic succession are all in vain—"Ye are yet in your sins" and an object to the penalty of sin—which they say is eternal torment. Our Baptist friends call aloud that they agree to a considerable extent with the pronouncements of the Disciple denomination, except that they do not understand that baptism is for the remission of sins—that, to their understandings, sins are remitted merely upon the exercise of obedience of faith in the great redemptive work of Christ, say they, after your sins have been forgiven in order to be saved you need to become members of the Church of Christ, and the only door into the Church of Christ is the door of baptism—immersion whoever they be—as, according to their views, no one is a member of the Church of our Lord Jesus Christ, and cannot participate in its salvation unless he be immersed in water.

Now, dear friends, let us imagine a sincere seeker after truth listening to all this babel of confusion this strife of tongues. We can only imagine him saying in bewilderment with the Psalmist of old, "Vanity of vanities!" All is so mixed with error and confusion as to cause perplexity to the great mass of the most intelligent and advanced Christians, and then to stand amazed and astounded at the words, "God does not believe the pure truth will be damned to an eternity of torture, is to suppose something too unreasonable to discuss. It must be evident to every one of you that there is some other, hidden, deeper sense to our text which is not generally understood.

"Damned" Should Be Condemned.

The most prominent difficulty, which we take up first, is this word damned. That word, as at present used, totally misrepresents the apostle's meaning. The revised translation is preferable here; it uses the word "condemned" instead of the word "damned." The fault, however, is not to be charged entirely to mistranslation, but rather to a gradual change in the English language. In olden times the word "damned" did not necessarily carry with it the thought of eternal torment, demons and pitchforks, flames and eternal torture, but rather the thought of condemnation. Take an illustration of this outside the scriptures. Shakespeare makes one of his characters to make the remark that another "was damned with faint praise." His meaning is evident to all—that it is possible to speak words of praise and eulogy mixed with censure in such a manner as to simply a condemnation instead of an approval. This is the thought which should be attached to the word "damned" wherever it is found in the scriptures. We acknowledge that the person or thing or class referred to the had some measure of trial, and has not passed it successfully and has been condemned.

We should we have the thought either that condemned signifies utter loss, for it has no such significance. We do indeed speak of a man being condemned to the gallows for a crime, in the thought that he is condemned to be hanged and thus have every member of a class at school who on examination fails to pass it. Those who pass at all, either with high honors or with low ones, are all approved as fit for the next step of education, but those who fail to pass are all condemned as unfit, as disapproved in connection with the matter for which they were examined.

We should not be too much perplexed particularly in the examination of our text is that it has no reference whatever to the world of mankind in general. When it says that "they all might be damned"—condemned—it is not referring in any sense of the word to a condemnation of the world, but solely to a class in the church in the end of the age, a class that shall fail to pass the divine inspection, fail to graduate, fail to attain the class honors of Christ's millennial kingdom to which the whole church of this present time has been called. We have on previous occasions called attention to the fact that this gospel age is not the world's day of judgment or trial, but the church's day of judgment and testing. We have also called attention to the fact that the scriptures are written not to the world, but to the church—to those who have heard the voice of the Lord, and, hearing, have left the world to become the Lord's people.

Convince yourselves of the truthfulness of our statement by examining the opening paragraph of each of the epistles. They are addressed to the saints, to the faithful, to the believers, and not in any sense to the world. And these epistles do not discuss the politics or interests or matters of this world, but the faith and conduct and duties of the church, of the saints, of the consecrated believers, of the Household of faith. It is true, however, that the apostles recognized the fact that a great falling away would come upon the church by which the standards of truth and righteousness would be greatly lowered and Christian ideals greatly disturbed, and that, while outwardly the numbers of professed Christians would be great, in reality the "saints" still would be the small minority, still the "little flock."

Separating Wheat from Tares.

The context shows that in the words of our text the apostle had reference to a sifting out which would occur in the end of this gospel age, a separating of the true church, the saints, from the general mass of nominal professors who draw nigh to the Lord with their lips, while their hearts are far from him—those who have a form of godliness, but in their lives show that they have not its power, that is not spirit.

The apostle, in verses 13-17, makes clear that he was not accusing the Thessalonian church of needing such a drastic sifting and separating process. He recognized that they had been of the elect of the truth and sanctified by the truth, were being polished and prepared for the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ—the kingdom. In the preceding context he has shown that the great falling away in the church, which was to come, but would ultimately prevail, as had been declared through the prophets. We, from our standpoint of today, can see how thoroughly his prediction was fulfilled—what a dreadful falling away the church of Christ had into ignorance and superstition—under the deceptions of the adversary, whose work our Lord referred to in his parable of the wheat and the tares. "An enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat"—false doctrines producing false or imitation Christians and generally swarming and confusing the interests of the true wheat.

In the parable the Lord declares that the wheat and the tares should grow together in the general nominal church system, elsewhere called Babylon or confusion, because of its mixture of truth and error, wheat and tares—until the end of this age, and then He would cause the separation to take place and would gather the wheat into the garner of the kingdom and condemn tares to be burned, that the entire field might be cleansed and made ready for a new sowing of the pure seed. In our text the apostle has in mind this very harvesting process, by which the wheat and the tares are to be separated in the end of this age. Our Lord declares that the tares shall be bound in bundles, and that the wheat shall be separated from these bundles and be gathered together into His garner. Our text shows that the sickle which will reap the harvest of this age will be the sickle of truth; and the same picture of the same great event is given us by our Lord in the symbolical book of Revelation, when, picturing our time, He says: "I looked, and behold a white cloud, and on the cloud I saw one sitting like unto the Son of man, having on His head a golden crown, and in His hand a sharp sickle. And another messenger came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to Him that sat on the cloud: 'Send forth the sickle and reap; for the time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe.' And he that sat upon the cloud thrust in His sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped."—Rev. xiv:14-16.

This sickle of truth, dear friends, the Lord is now thrusting here, there, everywhere, for the purpose of gathering, not the tares, but the wheat. All that are attracted to it by the truth, will be attracted to it; contrariwise the truth will be repellant to all who have not "the" spirit. Thus the Lord is fulfilling His prediction through the prophet, "Gather My saints together unto Me, saith the Lord, those who have made a covenant with Me by sacrifice."—"They shall be Mine, saith the Lord, in that day when I make up My jewels."—Psa. 1:5; Mal. iii:17.

Noble People Amongst Tares.

Both there are two sides to the question; there is not only a gathering of the jewels or in the other figure the reaping of the wheat, by the sickle of truth, but, contrarywise, there is another work to be progressing simultaneously among of the tares. And here we must pause to say that many noble-minded, sincere are a great many fine, noble people among the tares who have neither part nor lot with the wheat, because they are not of the same nature, not begotten of the truth, not adopted into the family, not members of the elect class. The tares are begotten of error—false doctrine. They are not entirely to be blamed for this, nor are they to have any eternal torment as a consequence. The adversary, using human instrumentalities, has sent forth a perverted gospel in the name of the Lord, has sowed tare seed in the Lord's wheat field. He has declared the Lord our God a great tyrant, who has appointed the machinery of torture for all who will not become identified with His cause in this present time. Under these misapprehensions of fact thousands upon thousands, millions, have given a nominal assent to Christ and made pretense of loyalty to Him which they have never really meant. They have become sham wheat, imitation wheat, tares; they have become professors who draw nigh with their lips while their hearts are far from the Lord. They are not entirely to blame for this, neither are they to profit by it. The fact that they have been making false professions as a result of false doctrines received does not prove that they are either reprobates them to a place in the kingdom class. The Lord has not hindered them from associating with His saints, nor has He hindered them from using the name and claiming that they are members of His family, but that while the apostle's words have been true, "The Lord knoweth them that are His"—and He equally well, all the while, has known them who were not His, who were merely deceived tares, who have received a certain amount of advantage from their attempt to imitate the wheat. It has made some of them more respectable than they otherwise would have been, and it has given to have had full communion and many self-denials which their tare conditions have involved.

The Lord, who knoweth His own, might indeed choose them out without in any sense of the word making a separation between the wheat and distinguishing thus between the wheat and the tares, but His plan is otherwise. In the harvest of this age the separating shall be effected, so far as possible, in all the world, to the intent that all may thereafter profit by the lesson—to all eternity.

How Delusions Are Sent.

When the apostle in our text declares that God shall send them strong delusions that they may believe a lie, that they all may be damned. He is speaking of this tare class, the imitation wheat class, and of the means which the Lord will use to separate them from His true wheat in the harvest time. The statement, "He shall send," in so far as it would imply God's active co-operation in evil doing, would give the wrong thought, for the scriptures, everywhere declare that His work is perfect, that there is no unrighteousness in Him. Hence this part of our text must be understood as signifying that the Lord at this time will be willing that strong delusions should come upon the church, that the adversary be permitted, during, sifting, separating the wheat from the tares. So far as we are able to understand from the scriptures, the great adversary is ever and always the agent in the propagation of evil—even to the extent that divine providence permits His activity, as is implied in the prayer which our Lord taught us, saying, "Abandon us not to temptation, but deliver us from the evil one." Only to the extent that we are free from the machinations and deceptions of the evil one can we hope to stand at all against the "wiles of the devil," of whose devices, as the apostle says, we are not ignorant. But the Lord is willing for wise purposes, and to some extent, in their interest, has spared also the tare class throughout this gospel age, and allowed both to grow together until the harvest time. Now, however, in the harvest time, the order of divine procedure will be changed to suit the circumstances; the wheat, the saints, will be specially protected, specially cared for, while the tares, the nominal Christians, will be exposed to the baneful influences of error.

The apostle's thought here is much in line with his statement respecting God's procedure with the world in general in ancient times, as he mentions the same in Romans 1:24-26, 28. He here tells us that God also "gave them up" because they "changed the truth of God into a lie." "And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind." Still, we may be sure, would be the uniform procedure of our heavenly Father, of whom the apostle declares, "God tempteth no man." He merely abandons to the tempter, or to the evil-preferred course, those who choose the wrong way. As it was over the world of mankind in general, as shown in the discourse in Romans, so in the harvest of this age, as shown in our text, the Lord will give over or abandon to temptation all in the nominal church system who love not the truth and give His special aid and special attention only to those who are at heart loyal to Him.

In various scriptures the Lord intimates that He is represented in His word, His doctrine, and our text is one of these instances. Those who love the Lord surely will love the truth, His message, will love it in its simplicity, will desire it in its purity, will be ready to lay down their lives for the truth. Those who love not the truth, but prefer error, thereby show that they are not of the particular class whom the Lord is now seeking out—that they are not open subjects of the holy spirit of begetting. Note the terseness of the apostle's statement: "They received not the love of the truth that they might be saved." The intimation is that even if these had gone so far as to get the truth into their understanding, if they did not love it in the heart, if they did not worship it, if it was not to them the most precious thing in the world, they would be counted unworthy to retain it in this harvest time and would be deprived of it. Hence this cause, "God shall send them strong delusions"—to take the truth entirely from them—that as they preferred the error they might have the error—might believe a lie, untruth.

The object is stated, that they all might be condemned—that all professing Christians thus preferring error to the truth, taking pleasure in the error and not in the truth, might be manifested as not in the truth. Christians at all, but merely imitations—not wheat at all, but merely tares.

A Great Shaking Time.

We see then that the lesson of our text and various parables of our Lord respecting the end of this age, as well as many other testimonies by the apostles, all indicate that the end of this gospel age will witness such a shaking among Christian peoples as has never before been known. It will differ from other shakings, too. The persecutions of the church in bygone times may properly enough be considered as shakings and siftings, but the sifting with which this age will close will be the most momentous of any the church has ever known. Our Lord, speaking of it, says, "If it were possible even the elect would be deceived," but this will not be possible because the Lord will uphold them, will shield them, will guide them through His providences, through His word, through His servants. These will have an ear for the truth, and will hear the message and will recognize the Master saying of the lapping time by which the present age will merge into the millennial age: "Take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand in that evil day."—Eph. vi:13.

This is the shaking time mentioned by the apostle in Hebrews xii:26-28. He is discussing the events connected with the close of the gospel age, declares that now the voice of the Lord, the voice of the truth on every subject, shall shake the whole earth—society in its every department. And not only so, but it shall shake the heavens, the spiritual institutions of this present time—that everything unsound, unsure, imperfect, unstable, may be utterly completely removed, to the intent that the unshakable things, the verities, may remain. The apostle points out that the true church, sifted and separated from all false professors, will constitute this kingdom of God which will thereafter under the headship of Christ, the great King, dominate the whole world, bringing blessings to every one and glorious opportunities for righteousness and general uplift to the image and likeness of God.

The same shaking time, we recall, is referred to prophetically in the ninety-first psalm, where a suggestion is given as of the wide difference between the whole number of those professing to be the Lord's people and those who are His real friends—between the nominal and real church, for the prophet declares: "A thousand shall fall at Thy side, ten thousand at Thy right hand." A thousand to one shows a large discrepancy between professed followers of Christ and those who are truly His and who shall never fall, but unto whom shall be administered an abundant entrance into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.—2 Pet. 1:11.

What Strong Delusions?

Some of these strong delusions are here now, and the Lord's true people ought to be able to discern them. In calling attention to these, be it noted that we shall not on this occasion depart from our usual custom of making no personal attacks—of speaking evil of no man. It is necessary, however, that we call attention to the errors, and part of our object is to shield, to assist, to protect from these delusions those who may at heart be loyal to the Lord. By the Lord's grace we have been permitted to assist some such, and we thankfully await further privileges and opportunities at His hand.

We note spiritism as one of the prominent deceptions of our day, one that already has wrecked the faith of many, and that, we believe, is destined to sift out many more. Spiritism flourishes because of the errors which prevail among Christian people. Were the latter not blinded by these errors, spiritism would be powerless to do them any injury. One of these errors is that Christian people of nearly all denominations have accepted heathen philosophies instead of and in contradiction to the word of God on the subject of man's condition in death. Human philosophy says that the dead are more alive than they ever were previously; the Bible declares, "The dead know not anything," and that their only hope is in a resurrection from death at the second coming of our Lord; and that if there be no resurrection from the dead our hope is vain. Christian faith is vain, and all that have fallen asleep in Christ are perished.—Eccl. ix:5; 1 Cor. xv:14-18. The Bible points us for hope to the Lord Jesus, and His declaration that He has the keys of death and of the grave—that is, that He has the power to call forth the dead, and that in His time He will exercise this power.—Rev. 1:18. The Bible gives us the Master's own words, saying, "Marvel not; for the hour is coming in which all that in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of man and shall come forth."—John v:28-29.

The Bible's testimonies from first to last are consistent, harmonious. It starts out with the declaration of Adam's perfection, life and harmony with God, His image and likeness; it tells of his disobedience and his fall thereby under the sentence of death—the loss of all life it points us to Jesus as the one who bought the world by giving His life in exchange for life that Adam had forfeited. It tells us that as a result of this redemption Jesus has become the life-giver to the world, and that none can obtain life except through vital union with Him. "He that hath the Son hath life; he that hath not the Son hath not life." Thus Jesus is God's appointed channel by which the world may obtain reconciliation, restitution, life everlasting, or, refusing it at His hands, will be beyond hope of recovery, in accord with this is our Master's word, "I am the resurrection and the life."

Preferring Lies to Truth.

Our text speaks of a class who love lies—who prefer the untruth. And so scores have indicated to us their preference for the untruth rather than the truth on this subject. They admit that it is all true that the scriptural statement that the dead are really dead—that the dead know not anything—and that their only hope will be the resurrection; but, say they, We prefer to believe it otherwise—we prefer to think of them as being more alive than ever, etc., etc. We answer, you must take your choice; if you love the untruth better than you do the truth, it evidences the fact that you have pleasure in unrighteousness; and let us put on finally the sandals, the gentleness, the patience, which are the preparations which the gospel gives for our work through life as valiant representatives of the Lord and His truth, and for all the trials and difficulties of the narrow way in which we follow our Master.

Consumption
Nearly all early cases can be cured. Expert physicians tell us they rely largely on three things—fresh air, good food, and Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If the case is advanced, recovery is more uncertain. Follow your doctor's orders. That's best.
"I had a terrible cold on my lungs. I feared I might have consumption. Nothing seemed to give me relief until I used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It acted promptly and cured me completely."—Miss Emma Miller, Fort Snelling, Minn.

GAVE SUPPORT TO WESTERN MINERS

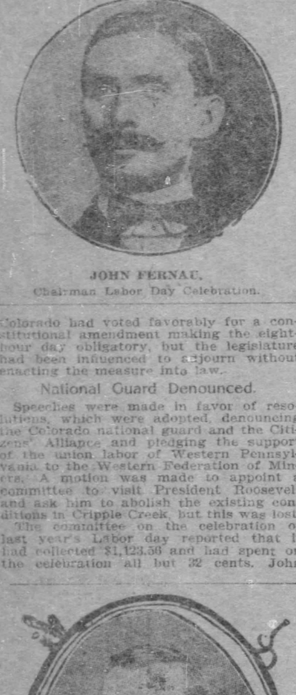
Men from Cripple Creek Tell Union Labor of the Conditions Existing There.

ELECT LABOR DAY OFFICERS

Three members of the Western Federation of Miners presented their views of the conditions existing at Cripple Creek, Col., at a meeting of the Labor day committee in Old City hall yesterday. Charles W. Winslow, chairman of last year's Labor day celebration, presided, and W. J. Kelly was secretary.

D. J. Spencer of the Western Federation denied the reports of disorder among the union miners of Colorado, and asserted that of the 130 men tried for conspiracy to destroy life and property every one had been acquitted, although tried in five districts and before different judges and juries. He asserted that the dynamite explosion which killed 11 non-union miners was not the work of the union men nor of their sympathizers.

A. W. Garrison said the strike was precipitated by the demand for an eight-hour day, while C. D. Thomas, the third westerner, asserted that the people of Colorado had voted favorably for a constitutional amendment making the eight-hour day obligatory, but the legislature had been influenced by the rich to ignore and refuse to enforce without enacting the measure into law.



JOHN FERNAU,
Chairman Labor Day Celebration.

National Guard Denounced.

Speeches were made in favor of resolutions, which were adopted, denouncing the Colorado national guard and the Citizens' Alliance and pledging the support of the union labor of Western Pennsylvania to the Western Federation of Miners. A motion was made to appoint a committee to visit President Roosevelt and ask him to abolish the existing conditions in Cripple Creek, but this was lost. The committee on the celebration of last year's Labor day reported that it had collected $1,123.56 and had spent on the celebration all but 32 cents. John Fernau, master workman of the Knights of Labor of the Pittsburgh district, was elected chairman of this year's celebration, and Mr. Winslow retired from the chair. Fernau thought there should be a big parade as a protest of union labor against the Manufacturers' association, headed by D. M. Parry, and against the conditions in Colorado. J. J. Kane was elected vice chairman, Thomas M. Blackburn chosen secretary, defeating H. C. Williams, Blackburn belongs to the Painters' organization and Williams to the street car men's union. Williams was elected assistant secretary and William Trishler of the Barbers' union treasurer.

Meeting Well Attended.

The five officers named compose the executive committee. It will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the headquarters of the Knights of Labor, 535 Smithfield street. It will probably appoint the members of the souvenir committee tonight and later will appoint the committees on sports and prizes, speakers, grounds, music and transportation. These committees, with the executive committee, will constitute the general committee, which will choose the chief marshal of the parade. The division marshals will be selected by the unions forming the various divisions.

The meeting in Old City hall was largely attended by delegates from the United Labor League, the Iron City Trades council and the Building Trades council. It was the unanimous opinion that every union body in Western Pennsylvania ought to join in the parade.

J. J. KANE,
Vice Chairman Labor Day Celebration.

THOMAS M. BLACKBURN,
Secretary Labor Day Celebration.

TURNERS ELECT COMMITTEEMEN

Were Welcomed to the City by Peter Hermes on Behalf of the Mayor.

ENTERTAINED IN HOMESTEAD

The delegates to the Twenty-first triennial convention of the North American Turnerbund held their first business session yesterday in Central Turner hall, Forbes street. About 125 delegates attended, and the hall was crowded by friends.

The convention was called to order by Henry C. Bloedel of Allegheny introducing Select Councilman Peter Hermes, who delivered an address of welcome to the delegates on behalf of Mayor Hays, extending them the freedom of the city.

Herman Lieber of Indianapolis, national president of the turnerbund, responded for the organization and delivered his annual address, in which he spoke of the growth of the turnerbund during the last two years when despite the fact that 27 societies have been dropped from membership and only nine new societies added, there has been an individual increase to the organization of 1,645, making the total membership 36,833.

A temporary organization was effected by the election of Henry Metzner of New York as chairman and Noah Guter of New Jersey as secretary. Chairman Metzner appointed a committee on credentials, consisting of Louis Warde, New York; John Semmen, San Francisco, and George Lando, Chicago. While the committee was preparing its report the report of the treasurer, Albert G. Metzgar of Indianapolis, showed that the receipts during the last two years amounted to $15,683.91, and that the total amount on hand was $40,766.39.

A committee on the suggestion of names for members of the regular standing committees, consisting of L. Schwependick, New York; P. Riebsame, Chicago; Gustave Donald, Missouri, and Gustave Clements, Ohio, was appointed.

A permanent organization was then formed by the election of Gustave Donald of Davenport, Ia., as chairman; P. Riebsame of Chicago, vice chairman, and August Buholtz, Pittsburgh, Max Rautenberg, Chicago, and Herman Riechter, Philadelphia, as secretaries. RECORD CROWDS AT ATLANTIC CITY

Regular Mid-August Scenes Are Presented on the Board-walk and Beach.

PITTSBURGHERS AT THE SHORE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Young's Ocean Pier.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 26.

The boardwalk and beach presented a scene today equal to that of the middle of August. The weather was perfect and brought thousands of visitors to the resort and had the effect of sending a mid-August number of bathers on the beach. Every train into the city from yesterday afternoon until today was run in sections, four sections being required on one train this morning over the Pennsylvania railroad. Official figures taken this morning from both railroads show that there were, according to actual count, 8,700 more people brought into Atlantic City yesterday and today than on the corresponding days last year.

Several daring rescues were made by the life guards today, but only in one instance did the guards have any trouble in resuscitating the bathers. Patrick Smith of Philadelphia was brought in about 5 o'clock by Guards Penny, Allen and Parker, and it was nearly an hour before Beach Physician Beckwith brought him around.

Dr. James D. Kinney of Pittsburgh, a guest at the Grand Atlantic, has arranged for a golf match to be played between himself and H. G. George of Delaware Water Gap, Pa. The match, started in fun, has taken a serious turn, and this morning Dr. Kinney wagered $100 that he would beat his opponent. The date for the contest has been set for next Tuesday, and will be refereed by Dr. Harley Stamp, a local enthusiast.

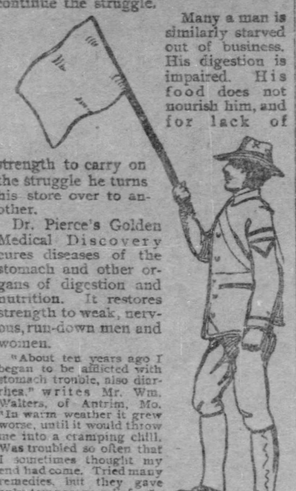
STARVED OUT.

Many a garrison has been forced to give up the fight and hang out the white flag of surrender, when lack of food has weakened the men past all power to continue the struggle.



Many a man is similarly starved out of business. His digestion is impaired. His food does not nourish him, and for lack of strength to carry on the struggle he turns his store over to another.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores strength to weak, nervous, run-down men and women.

"About ten years ago I began to be afflicted with stomach trouble, also diarrhea," writes Mr. Wm. Walters, of Antrim, Mo. "It was worse when it grew warm, until it would throw me into a cramping chill. Was troubled so often that I sometimes thought my end had come. Tried many remedies, but got relief in only temporary relief. In November, 1899, thought I would try Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I got six bottles and took five in succession, then thought I would wait for a time and take the one left. Soon found I had symptoms of the trouble coming back, so took the sixth bottle and it cured me. I have enjoyed the best of health this summer, and the credit all belongs to your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I can't express my many thanks to Dr. Pierce for his remedy, for it did so much for me. Words cannot express how severely I suffered.

"If any doubt the above statement let them address me, and I will take great pleasure in answering."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

STRONG WEEK FOR STOCKS, WITH PROFIT-TAKING CLOSE

There Was Very Little Pressure to Sell, but Final Quotations on Standard Issues Did Not Reveal Any Pronounced Gains.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Stocks held strong throughout the week and closed in a profit-taking movement. There was very little pressure to sell but the closing quotations of the standard stocks did not reveal any pronounced gains. In the bond department, however, there have been fractional advances, and the tone, which has been exceedingly strong, was well maintained. In fact, evidences of the continued growth and broadening of the demand for high grade investment issues are at hand not only on the stock exchange but throughout the leading cities. There has been no increase in business in stocks, although here and there evidences appear of absorption of shares of standard railroads.

It is apparent to everyone that a more hopeful feeling exists in financial circles. Sentiment has been influenced by the crop news, which was uniformly good until the end of the week. The expectation of an abundant yield of corn and cotton and a normal one of wheat has been a sustaining factor of substantial proportions. Besides the principal cereals, the reports have been equally good concerning hay, potatoes, oats and the smaller agricultural products, with one or two exceptions.

In addition, there is the continued ease in money and the huge cash reserves, which are steadily piling up in the banks and reserve centers. The demand for investment in high grade securities has kept pace with the influx of cash, and and its effect has extended to the stock market by steadying prices. These three factors, the crop news, the demand for bonds and the ease of money, have certainly not induced people to sell stocks.

It cannot be said, however, that the three agencies mentioned influenced merchants, manufacturers or capitalists to buy stocks. It is with a great amount of reserve that one must speak of either the cotton and the corn crops at this season of the year. The harvest is so far away and so much can happen between the present and the early fall months that naturally all business interests are unwilling to make any commitments at this time based on the results of the season's crop yields. The stock market, which reflects the conditions of business and its prospects, has so far discounted the promising condition with which the agricultural season starts. None of the evidences have appeared, either in the stock market or business generally, which would indicate any resumption of commercial activity. On the contrary, the continued buying in the higher grade of investments suggests a feeling of uncertainty as to the future and the disinclination to very little discretion to buy "corner lots," as the common shares of some of the industrials and cheaper railroads are called, and await developments of the next two years or more. On the contrary, the general inquiry is for securities which will not only protect the principal, but yield a normal rate of interest.

The agencies which are now at work are all directing themselves to the cure of the excesses committed in that period of inflation. As a compensation the operation is attended with the loss of business and spreading commercial depression. The inflow of funds in enormous quantities week by week speaks in plain language the tale of business relaxation. There is no longer expansion of domestic trade, which in its early aggressiveness threatened the control of foreign markets. Funds are being withdrawn from the ordinary channels of commerce, and they are flowing to the other cities to take up the burden of eradicating the evils of stock and security inflation. When that work is completed it remains to be seen whether the attendant evils which were associated with the inflation period have been sufficiently stamped out.

Prices of all commodities remain ridiculously high, compared with the prices of similar goods in other countries. Labor shows a decided opposition to any efforts to reduce the wage. The cost of manufacture is showing some reduction, but is small compared with what will have to come before there is a complete cure effected.

LONDON, June 26.—(Copyright Cable.)—No revival in activity was noted on the stock exchange during the week. Dullness prevailed in all the speculative departments and Shorter's court, where dealings continued after the houses close at 4 o'clock, was practically deserted within half an hour, or an hour at the most, after the official closing of the exchange.

Brokers making a specialty of Americans said New York gave no initiative that could be relied upon, and only a languid interest was taken in various movements in American securities. Gilt-edged market, as London designates its highest classed issues, was not benefited by the Transvaal flotation and consols, old Transvaal 3s, London county council old and new issues and India 3s and 2½'s weakened on the price offered for the new issues.

Speculative sentiment is much mixed over the American situation. The renomination of President Roosevelt was regarded as a foregone conclusion. Though considered a favorable factor it attracted little attention and was void of market influence.

Highly optimistic reports of the crop conditions in the United States are circulated in the city and are the basis for a somewhat more hopeful feeling which prevails concerning the future of general business in America, but London operators as a rule see nothing attractive in the American stock market at the present time.

SEPTEMBER WHEAT UP ONE CENT AT CHICAGO

Talk of Active Milling Demand Strengthens Prices in Board of Trade.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—Talk of an active milling demand in the southwest for newly harvested grain was the chief cause for another net advance of 1 cent today in the price of September wheat. Corn is off ⅛@¼c. Oats unchanged and provisions are down 2½c to 12½c. As the result of a variety of bullish influences a strong tone prevailed in wheat at the opening. The most prominent feature were higher cables, decreased shipments from Australia and additional rain in sections of the southwest, where harvesting is in progress. Initial quotations on September were up ¼c to ⅝c at 80⅝c to 81c. Trading was light during the early part of the session, more from a scarcity of offerings than from any lack of demand. Shorts and commission houses were the prominent bidders. The selling was largely by scalpers.

As the session advanced a considerable amount of bearish news was received, but it had little apparent effect, the market retaining its opening firmness. Weather and local packets in and out on time with good passenger lists. Excursion boats did mammoth business today. There were no towboat movements today. The Kanawha fleet is due tomorrow with a million and a half bushels of coal.

Plenty Coal Awaits Rise.

Rivermen had little to engage their attention in the local harbor yesterday. The rivers were low and stationary, with little promise of an early rise. Large fleets of laden coal boats stand ready for shipment, while nearly all of the local boats in the coal trade are here awaiting the first swell.

Postponed on Account of Rain from Decoration Day—Many Took Part.

Memorial services, postponed from Decoration day on account of rain, were conducted yesterday at the Church Hill cemetery, Turtle Creek. The Grand Army of the Republic post at Turtle Creek was forced to disband five years ago on account of its thinning ranks.

Since then the Turtle Creek council of the Junior Order United American Mechanics has taken charge of the services. Besides the Junior Order the societies that took part were: Knights of the Mystic Chain, Knights of the Golden Eagle, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Turtle Creek encampment Sons of Veterans, Grand Army men and Spanish-American war veterans.

FELL FORTY-FIVE FEET: HAS CHANCE FOR LIFE

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 26.—(Special.)—After a terrific plunge downward of 45 feet, Andrew Wolf, an employe of the Shenango Valley Steel mill in this city, lives and the surgeons believe he has a chance for life. He was injured at 3 o'clock this morning, when he dropped from the cupola of the steel mill, where he was working.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN LOCAL MARKETS

Potatoes Broke Records—Many Changes Made—Cheese Prices Went Up.

Potatoes were the feature of the produce market that week. Arrivals amounted to fully 500 cars, all of which were disposed of at comparatively low and unanticipated prices at heavy loss to many buyers. Not in years have so many new crop potatoes come in—almost a single week at this season of the year. The break came much sooner than expected.

Tomatoes also arrived in quantities and prices were away down. Near the close of the week beans, cucumbers and berries went down hard; tomatoes were selling Saturday at whatever prices could be gotten. Canteloupes arrived at the rate of about 10 carloads per day and were a drug on the market, being only fair. Banana arrivals totaled 96 cars and many more could have been used. The market was firmer. Oranges were in good request. New peaches came in sparsely; the stock is pretty green yet and not wanted generally. Raspberries dropped Saturday. Dealers reported slow business every afternoon last week, though mornings were fairly brisk.

Cream cheese was advanced Saturday. The market is looking fair, but demand could improve a great deal over that of last week. Eggs are being handled at big cost to dealers and prices are ranging high accordingly. Demand is good. Butter showed fairly well and is reported to be about holding its own. Flour went down and sugar went up as anticipated. Further changes are expected on coffee most any time. Prices on goods for canning and for fall delivery of canned goods are reported good. Dried fruits are going out rapidly. Patent cereals sold better than the week before. Poultry was wanted more on account of reduction in price of springers. Mackerel and other fish were in fair demand.

The Northwestern Miller gives the flour output at milling centers for two weeks, with comparisons, in barrels, as follows:

Prices were marked down 50 cents all around on hay Saturday; business in this line was very slow; neither oats, corn nor millfeed gave signs of improvement. The present is just prior to stock-taking time and will likely continue quiet until after the period of inviolate. The arrival of new crops will also make a decided change before long, though reports Saturday indicated that the new hay crop will not come in very early this year. Oats have been reduced a half cent; No. 2 white is selling little better than 47 cents and one car went Saturday at 46½ cents. Millfeed prices continue to bother as much as ever and a drop is still being waited for.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined Saturday: Pennsylvania, 14 cars hay, 12 cars oats, 6 cars corn, 2 cars feed, 1 car corn and oats, 1 car straw; Baltimore & Ohio, 12 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car corn, 1 car feed, 1 car straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 cars hay, 1 car oats.

Dealers charge an advance of 5c a bushel on grain and $3 00 a ton on hay and millfeed from warehouses in less than carload lots.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—The Cubs took the measure of the Pittsburgh baseball champions again today in the first game they have played on the return from a long eastern trip. The visitors were unable to connect with Weimer to any noticeable extent, while Chicago fell on Miller for 13 safe ones, two of which were two-baggers, while one was for three bases. It was a one-sided contest after the first few innings, but one in which the interest never lagged. Before his retirement the Cubs made some of the most scintillating plays ever witnessed on a local diamond, and should have won on an equal distribution of hits. The final score was 7 to 1.

Weimer was on the rubber for the locals and permitted just seven hits off his delivery. These resulted in one run by Beaumont in the early part of the game, during the remainder of the contest the visitors never got further than second base. The Cubs distanced their opponents in base running as well as hitting. Capt. Chance leading the procession with a record of a second and a third base stolen.

Slagle was the first man to negotiate the bases for Chicago. This came in the first inning, when he led off with a single to center and scored on a single to right by Chance. Beaumont managed to get around in the fourth, when he led off with a single, which was followed by a steal and two outs, but Steele's men managed to get a tally in, and in the sixth opened up in earnest.

Jones led off in the sixth with a single to left, Sheers managed to get to first. A hit by Kling sent them in with the runs that put the locals so far in the lead that the game was practically secure. In the seventh Miller got to first through an error by Hans Wagner and McCarthy singled. Then Jones sent a slashing two-bagger to the right field fence, on which the ball bounded, scoring Miller. A clean single to center by Tinker sent Jones in. This was the end of the Chicagos' run getting, but none of the players made a hard effort to come after the game had been decided. Slagle struck out for the third time in the eighth, but there were two men gone and the necessary hit was not forthcoming to bring him in.

Weimer pitched masterful ball all through the game. Except in the fourth inning, when he was touched up for three singles, Fred Clarke's men were not able to do much with him. Miller pitched a fine game for a while, but the Cubs were generally able to hit when hits were needed. The score:

Boston Easy for Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, June 26.—Brooklyn had an easy time of it today at Washington park, defeating Boston 8 to 2. Fisher, who was in the box for the visitors, was pounded hard in the first inning, and Nichols was batted for runs. After that there was little interest in the game. Jones and Jacklitsch of the Brooklyn team were arrested after a few balls were pitched, but the game then went on without interruption on the arrival of the police.

WAS SLUGGING MATCH.

Beltzhoover Won from Martins by a Large Score.

Beltzhoover went to the A. J. Martins' grounds yesterday and won a slugging match from that team in a loosely played game 20 to 15. The grounds were in poor condition, which caused many grounders to take ugly bounds, resulting in hits which otherwise would have been outs. The features were the batting of both teams, Kestner's and Klein's work back of the bat and the great work of Stewart in breaking down several fierce drives at third which would have allowed four bases.

HORSEMEN WILL FIGHT FOR A RACING BILL

Western Turf Followers Are Up in Arms Against the Recent Act of Mayor Harrison.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—Despite all the attempts that have been made during the past few weeks to kill the racing game in Chicago, Hawthorne is attracting large crowds daily and offering horsemen purses almost rich enough to make up for the loss sustained by the closing of Washington park. However, the injury done the game by the closing of the big track is beyond imagination.

Only one result can be brought about that will serve to repay the damage done the turf by Mayor Harrison, and that is the passage of a racing bill that will permit the game to be conducted in the proper spirit. Chicago wants racing. That is shown by the interest manifested in the game at Hawthorne. Horsemen like to race here, for it is the greatest turf city in the west, hence the Washington Park club and other friends of the turf will gather under one banner and make every effort to have a law that will be plain passed at the next meeting of the state legislature.

While horsemen are talking about such a bill they are going ahead in the game as it is being conducted and giving the patrons of the track some excellent sport. The Hawthorne and Harlem clubs are doing all possible to encourage them and the public is showing its appreciation by its attendance at the tracks. The past two days have given good cards at Hawthorne, while the future holds out better offerings.

WILL BE GREAT DERBY.

The Best Western Horses Entered in St. Louis Event.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—The St. Louis derby, to be decided at the fair grounds Saturday, promises to be the greatest derby ever run at St. Louis. Among the horses that have earned penalties, and will therefore carry more than their weight, are Hamilton, owned by John W. Schorr of Memphis, Tenn., which won the Kansas City derby and finished third in the World's Fair handicap; Ort Wells, winner of the Tidal stakes, who is the eastern candidate; Elwood, representing California, winner of the Kentucky and Latonia derbies.

In addition such good colts as English Lad, Bear Catcher, Military Man, Flower, King, Prince Silver Wings, Dutiful, King Creker, Rainland, Bugler, Montebank and Foresight will make up one of the best fields sent to the post since Prince Lief and Ben Brush fought it out in 1896, the former winning by a short margin, and setting a mark of 2:34 for the mile and a half, which has not been equaled since.

WILL BE WARM GAMES.

P. A. C. and Homestead to Play a Double-Header Tomorrow.

Two big games are on the card at Friendship park for tomorrow when Howard Risher's Homestead team plays the P. A. C. aggregation. The first game will be called at 3:16 in the afternoon, and the other at 6 o'clock in the evening. Manager Wentz has made it a point to start all evening games on time and full nine innings have been played in every case. Risher's team has had the best of all the independent teams of the vicinity and it is safe to say that the rival teams will give him a real battle for honors. P. A. C. and Homestead stand a tie, with a victory each in the games played.

On account of the Duquesne heights friends of Lew Moren requesting it, he will be on the rubber in one game and the new man, Upp, will pitch the other. Bill Rankin will pitch one game and Bill Coleman, or Jakey Bert the other for P. A. C. Manager Wentz wired Fred Clarke last evening asking permission to use one of his stay-at-home pitchers in one of these games.

KRUGER ON HAND.

Otto Joins Pirates, but Stankard Failed to Appear.

CHICAGO, June 26.—(Special.)—Infielder Stankard did not report to Manager Clarke today, but Otto Kruger joined the team. Kruger has recovered entirely from the effects of his accident at Boston. He returned yesterday from a fishing trip and is ready for duty. His arrival made it possible for Jerry Diehl to return to his business at Cincinnati. The players were sorry to see Diehl leave.

If Stankard arrives in time he will be tried out in the game at Youngstown on Wednesday and at Homestead Thursday.

St. Casimir's Quit the Field.

The St. Casimir team yesterday forfeited 9 to 0 to the Beaver A. C. of Allegheny in a very close and exciting game. Everything was smooth sailing for nine innings, the score at that time standing 6 to 6. The St. Casimirs, in their tenth turn at bat, scored three runs. The Beavers were not to be denied, and soon had two men on bases, when Patten came to bat and soaked one to right for three bases. The play to catch Patten at third was the umpire called him safe. Here the St. Casimirs made a kick and left the field for good, whereupon the umpire gave the game to Beaver 9 to 0.

Motor Pace Record Broken Again.

NEW YORK, June 26.—J. Moran of Chelsea, Mass., today broke the mile motor-paced record, covering the distance in 1:26 2-5 in the first mile of the final heat of the five-mile motor-paced bicycle race on the Manhattan Beach track. In the first heat Moran lost his pace in the third mile and was easily beaten by Lander. In the second heat Moran just beat McFarland at the tape, but the New England man had no difficulty in winning the final heat, as Leander's pace was faulty toward the end of the race.

THE START IN A BASKETBALL GAME

COLUMBIA CREWS IN FINE SHAPE

Coach Goodwin Is Confident That His Men Will Be Close Up to the Front.

SOME FAST TIME TRIALS MADE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 26.—Jasper T. Goodwin, coach of the Columbia crews, was satisfied with his men and their prospects for the big regatta on the Hudson next Tuesday. When a reporter saw him at Red Top, the crew's headquarters, today he said:

"No changes have been made in any of the three Columbia crews since we left New York, and unless something unforseen happens shall have to use no substitutes on Tuesday's races. With the exception of several men who had an off day or two we have had no sickness this year. Since we came, three weeks ago, we have had few time rows on the course. Last week the varsity had three time rows, the freshmen and four-oared men had four time trials.

"Whether or not I have been satisfied with the results of these time rows I shall not say. Since I have been here I have not mentioned even to my most intimate friends whether I think the crews' work has been satisfactory this year. The weather and water conditions have been most favorable. Not a day has passed that we were not able to have a time pull. We had our last hard row Friday. Since that time we have worked just hard enough to keep the men in good trim. If the weather is favorable we shall go out Monday. No rowing will be done Tuesday until the races are called.

"We are practically all settled and ready for the races. The men are now in good shape and they will be in just the condition I want to have them on Tuesday. The talk about our crews rowing above Krumel bow in order to keep away from the people amounts to nothing. We row on the upper course when conditions are most favorable, and on the lower course under the same circumstances. For one week we have had conditions on the lower course very favorable, therefore we took advantage of them."

In referring to Courtney's plan of having two men row in two races Coach Goodwin said: "The Cornell men are now in good shape and they will be in just the condition I want to have them on Tuesday. The talk about our crews rowing above Krumel bow in order to keep away from the people amounts to nothing. We row on the upper course when conditions are most favorable, and on the lower course under the same circumstances. For one week we have had conditions on the lower course very favorable, therefore we took advantage of them."

In referring to Courtney's plan of having two men row in two races Coach Goodwin said: "The Cornell men are now in good shape and knows his men and unless he thought them able to row the races he would not have them do it. I have nothing to say as to the wisdom of the plan."

The varsity men and their positions Tuesday will be: Mackenzie, bow; Maeder (captain), 2; Doyle, 3; Miller, 4; Ferris, 5; Von Bermuth, 6; O'Laughlin, 7; Post, stroke; Cuthall, coxswain.

FINE TROPHY CUP.

One Presented by W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Is Very Massive.

NEW YORK, June 26.—(Special.)—The cup presented by W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., for the international motor carriage race has just been completed and placed on exhibition by Tiffany & Co. This latest addition to challenge trophy is classical in form and massive in size, with simple decorations that help to accentuate the strong lines of the superb piece of silversmithing.

The shape of the cup was suggested by some of the unique and beautiful vessels found among the silver treasures of Boscoreale, which date back to 79 A. D. Including the base, it stands about 31 inches and the bowl contains 481 ounces of sterling silver and has a capacity of over 10½ gallons.

FIXED THE SCHEDULE.

Tristate Association Will Draw from Independent League.

HARRISBURG, June 24.—A meeting of the Tristate Baseball association was held here today at which a schedule was prepared for the remainder of the season, beginning July 5. Each team will play 60 games, 30 at home and 30 away from home. This will leave 17 open dates for each club, the postponed games or games which may hereafter be postponed.

The association withdrew from the independent league. The Camden team was dropped owing to poor patronage.

Alliance Team Gives Up the Ghost.

ALLIANCE, O., June 26.—(Special.)—After a very unprofitable venture, Alliance's salaried baseball team closed its season today. Four innings had been played with East Liverpool, with a score 5 to 0 in favor of Alliance, when the authorities arrested the players for violating the Sunday law. The gatekeeper boarded an electric car for the city without refunding the admission fees, whereupon spectators blocked the cars until checks were given to be redeemed at the office of the car company which manages the ball grounds. Arrests will likely be made for interference with cars. Alliance team won 15 and lost 14 games during the season.

Stroup Ready for Fight.

Solly Stroup, who is no mean Jack Hamilton of Troy, N. Y., next Friday evening at South Sharon, has many admirers in that section who will back him heavily to beat Hamilton. Stroup can give and take punishment with them all, and will make Hamilton the players for, while Hamilton is training hard at New Castle and will be at his old time form.

Braddock Team on a Trip.

The Braddock baseball team leaves this morning for Slippery Rock to play there today and tomorrow, and will likely play a twilight game at Butler on Tuesday. The Braddock players expect to capture at least two of the three games. Emrick and O'Neill will do the pitching, with Adams behind the bat.

American Association Games.

Columbus, 6; Indianapolis, 5.
Louisville, 4; Toledo, 3.
Minneapolis, 5-6; Milwaukee, 3-9. (Two games.)
St. Paul, 3-6; Kansas City, 4-4 (Two games.)

THE BASKETBALL PLAYERS MUST HAVE SPEED AND SKILL

It Is Not a Game for Boys With Quick Temper. There Must Be Team Work in Order to Secure Success.

The game of basketball was invented by James Naismith while an instructor at the International Training school for Young Men's Christian association executive officers, situated at Springfield, Mass.

Value of Group Games.

Sport is a great revealer of character. Especially is this true of sports having the group characteristics, such as basketball, football, lacrosse, etc.

The game is admirable not only for the physical training of the boys, but the ethical training as well. The coach who neglects the latter should be given a ticket-of-leave, and that quickly. If the boys do not learn self-control, honesty, fairness, poise in victory or defeat, deference to the decisions and self-sacrifice, something is wrong with the system of coaching, and either a change in coaches should be made or the game given up entirely.

President Roosevelt says: "The whole test of the worth of any sport should be the demand that sport makes on those qualities of mind and body which in their sum we call manliness. This game stands the test. No amount of physical benefit would warrant the adoption of the game if the ethical results are wanting.

I speak from the effect of the game on two players, both having quick tempers, which cropped out under the least provocation. One of them we will call John. He applied for a place on the team, and even his best friends advised against the acceptance of him on account of his uncontrollable temper. The condition was frankly laid before him, and he said: "So that is the reason I was refused. Well, you let me play in several trial games and I will show a marked degree, and as he is the one most liable to make fouls, must know the rules thoroughly. The value of an efficient guard is never underestimated by his team.

The Officials.

The officials, as the rules state, must be competent, honest and impartial, and not members of either organization represented in the game. Most of the unpleasantness in any game are due to poor officials. They can make or break the best game ever begun. All organizations accept the responsibility for training the team, but the duty of training officials. Every school should begin at once the training of at least a half dozen officials for games between other schools, and then the dishonest and incompetent ones would be kept out of the game for the good of both the game and players. Poor officials are often used because good ones are scarce. I know of no way to better advance the game on right lines than to produce and secure two or three competent officials from each school.

Spectators may be trained to enjoy clean play or allowed to deteriorate until they want only the kind played in some cities. Clean sportsmanship is a desire for the right kind of sport in the spectators.

Good plays should be recognized, whether by the home team or visitors. Hissing should be reduced to a nonentity, and the incomplimentary comments about the decisions of officials should not be tolerated for an instant. Usually they are indulged in by the spectators who know least about the game, and would not know a correct decision if they saw it.

Yelling or hissing when the visitors' team has a free throw for goal is not only unfair, but abominable, and the alternative of going out personally or being put out forcibly ought to be presented to persons behaving in this way, and acted upon at once. I remember attending a game where a young man, after a decision by the referee, shouted "Rotten!" The man in charge of the gymnasium where the game was played immediately blew a whistle and announced publicly that such actions would not be tolerated, that the young man could get his money back if he was not satisfied with the game, but that any such conduct occurred again the perpetrator would be assisted to the street without getting his entrance money. Nothing of like nature occurred during the remainder of the game.

Basketball is a vigorous game, played by vigorous individuals, and often witnessed by vigorous spectators, and at times needs vigorous action by those in authority to keep down the unruly spirits who are ignorant of the rules and purposes of the game. The object of the game is to assist in the development of clean, wholesome character. If it cannot be conducted in this spirit it ought not to be conducted at all.

The Team.

Several years ago, in one of the basketball championships, a club entered a team of players who had not played together long enough to develop team work, but were stars selected from five different organizations. They went into the championship aure of success, but when the tournament was over they were in fourth place. The question arose why such an aggregation of stars did not carry off the honors. The answer is plain—lack of team work. Every player was a unit, instead of the whole team being a unit. Each player played an individual game. This team did not develop their team work to the exclusion of individual greatness in playing.

Teams of inferior individual players had beaten them often because of superb team work. The individual player must know the rules thoroughly, exercise prompt judgment, never get "rattled," know his place in the team and fill it at all times, be accurate at passing and throwing, must practice often, so as to acquire endurance, and above all, exhibit that rare quality, self-control, without which no one can hope to develop into a first-class player.

The Various Positions.

In general the above qualifications are necessary for each position on the team. In particular the most successful players are noted for the following, in the positions indicated:

The center should be a tall player, who can jump well, and agile enough to stoop well when the play demands it. He is a sort of a general, playing between the two goals and assisting to pass the ball from the opponents' end of the field to his own forwards, so they may throw for goal.

The forward gets the most glory, as he throws the greatest number of goals and receives the most applause when successful in caging the ball. He must be in harmony with the other players and have the knack of getting into an uncovered position, as the game is won on goals thrown, and not on simple tosses.

The guard has the most unsatisfactory position, from a personal standpoint, on the team, yet one of the most important from the standpoint of the game. He it is who prevents the opponents from scoring many goals, and the prevention of scoring is as necessary to the successful outcome of the game as making goals by his brother guards. His duties must be quick, and require a marked degree, and as he is the one most liable to make fouls, must know the rules thoroughly. The value of an efficient guard is never underestimated by his team.

The Officials.

The officials, as the rules state, must be competent, honest and impartial, and not members of either organization represented in the game. Most of the unpleasantness in any game are due to poor officials. They can make or break the best game ever begun.
